HOOVER TO LET WETS BARE DRY ACT OUTRAGES

Pledges Law Enforcing
Quiz Will Hear Them.

Washington, D. C., April 14.—(Special.)—Virtual assurance from the White House that they and other opponents of Volsteadism will be given ample opportunity to present arguments for repeal or modification of the prohibition laws to President Hoover's law enforcement commission was claimed tonight by officials of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment.

Correspondence made public tonight at the organization's headquarters disclosed that in response to the appeal of the association's heads for a hearing by the commission, President Hoover, through his secretary, Lawrence Richey, promised that "opportunity will be given for the presentation of any facts which bear upon the enforcement of the 18th amendment or any other of our laws."

Puts It Up to Mitchell.
Earlier in the day Representative George Holden Tinkham (Rep., Mass.), who a week ago called upon the President to enforce the 18th and 19th amendments to the federal constitution as vigorously as he promised to enforce the 18th, made public a letter to Attorney General Mitchell reiterating the demand upon Mr. Hoover.

In his letter, Mr. Tinkham reminded the attorney general, as legal adviser to the President, that if the President fails to attempt to enforce the 18th and 19th amendments in southern states, he is subject to impeachment as committing a high crime and misdemeanor. The letter insists that "the President cannot choose what parts of the constitution he will enforce and what parts of the constitution he will not enforce," and charges that the two amendments cited "are now wholly and grossly nullified."

Letter to President.
The appeal to the President for assurance that his law enforcement commission will hear the wets as well as the dries and allow the submission of data gathered by opponents of prohibition was made by Henry H. Curran, William H. Stayton and Pierre S. DuPont, president, chairman of the board of directors, and chairman of the executive committee, respectively, of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment. Their joint letter reviewed the history of the association and continued:

"The association has made a careful study of the effect of the 18th amendment and the federal enforcement laws upon the social, moral and economic life of our people and their relation to the effective functioning of the federal courts, and we have reached certain definite conclusions."

"We are satisfied that the true cause of the failure of the government to enforce the so-called Volstead law is to be found in the nature of the 18th amendment itself and not altogether in a faulty or obsolete judicial system, and we desire to present before your impartial commission evidence to this effect, in accordance with your statement specifying compelling political alliances. It is impossible to daily with a local politician on a quid pro quo basis without having the bargain eventually known throughout the community in which the politician operates."

"From all that sort of thing the state dry organizations must be freed."

"There must be a personnel which will regain and hold confidence. There must be an end to whispers of entangling political alliances. It is impossible to daily with a local politician on a quid pro quo basis without having the bargain eventually known throughout the community in which the politician operates."

Doran's Inquiry on Grape Production Elicits Loud Guffaws in Washington

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., April 14.—(Special.)—Nothing in recent Volstead history has provoked heartier laughter than prohibition Commissioner J. M. Doran's announcement today of a nationwide investigation into the production of grapes, corn sugar, malt, hops and other raw materials used by home brewers and amateur distillers or wine makers.

Corn sugar, the basis, according to official estimates, of 98 per cent of the whisky consumed in the United States today, has been investigated, and the second phase of the inquiry, into the tremendous increase in the production of grapes in California since prohibition became effective, is now under way, the commissioner revealed.

May Help Vineyardists.
In spite of Dr. Doran's earnest assertion that he hopes, on the data gathered, to evolve methods of sup-

REFORM STATE DRY LEAGUES, IS CHURCH DEMAND

Lack Confidence of the People, Paper Says.

Careful, complete, and, in many states, drastic overhauling of the state branches of the Anti-Saloon league is demanded editorially in the current number of the Christian Century, an independent religious weekly published in Chicago.

The contention is based on the result of the recent vote in Wisconsin in favor of the repeal of its state prohibition law.

Tells Strategy of Wets.
The chief value of the Wisconsin vote to the dries, according to this weekly, lies in what may be learned from it as to the future strategy of the wets.

"From now on," says the editorial, "the dries will have to expect that the fight will tend to die down within the federal congress and to burst out with renewed vigor in those states where the wets see a chance to emasculate or destroy state enforcement acts."

The Christian Century has had occasion to express the opinion recently that the national organization of the Anti-Saloon league is not conducted as smoothly, as effectively, and as wisely as it has in times past. But this national organization, whatever its strength or weakness, is removed by considerable distance from most individual dries and from the organizations through which they have supported the dry movement.

Different in States.
"This is not true of the state leagues. These touch the local constituencies immediately. It is the state league which must go to the local church seeking a hearing and funds."

"And it is in the state leagues that the dry movement has been most obviously losing ground. It is against the leadership of the state leagues that the impotence of local organizations has been shown. The list of state leagues with a declining income is very long."

"Common sense indicates, therefore, the need for an overhauling of state dry organizations."

"There must be a personnel which will regain and hold confidence. There must be an end to whispers of entangling political alliances. It is impossible to daily with a local politician on a quid pro quo basis without having the bargain eventually known throughout the community in which the politician operates."

pressing "illot manufacture at the source," assumed wets declared the principal result will be to center public attention on loopholes and inconsistencies in the Volstead act as well as to give desperately needed assistance to California vineyardists.

If anything was needed, it was pointed out, to rescue California vineyardists from the slump into which they have fallen, as a result of overproduction inspired by the hope of fabulous prices to be paid for grapes by scoundrels, it was an "investigation" to determine how the grapes are used.

Prices Skyrocket, then Slump.
Before prohibition, California grapes sold from $5 to $10 a ton, and after Volsteadism became effective the prices suddenly skyrocketed to $40, $50, or more a ton. The vineyardists trebled and quadrupled their acreage, buying new land at high prices. The result was overproduction, which forced the price down and caused a chance for ruin.

Law Exempts Fruit Juices.
The "investigation," regardless of Dr. Doran's purpose, will direct attention, it was pointed out, to the fact that the Volstead act itself specifically exempts the manufacture of "fruit juices" in the home and does not even limit the alcoholic content of such juices to one-half of 1 per cent. The only limitation is that the juices must not be "intoxicating in fact," and the decision as to whether they are "intoxicating in fact" is left to a jury.

It is also expected that Dr. Doran's inquiry will greatly increase the demand for an already popular circular, distributed gratis by the department of agriculture, entitled "Farmer's Bulletin No. 1975, Unfermented Grape Juice—How to Make It in the Home."

CRIME ON WANE
UNDER RUSSELL,
DR. YARROW SAYS

Under Commissioner of Police Russell, crime conditions in Chicago have steadily improved, Dr. Philip Yarrow, superintendent of the Illinois Vigilance association, declared yesterday in an address to the Forest Park Methodist Episcopal church.

"The gangsters who created and maintained vice syndicates two years ago have been run out," declared Dr. Yarrow. "Jack Zeta, Al Capone and Dennis Cooney are on their backs. They have felt the strong fist of Commissioner Russell and some of his clean and able captains. Chicago is not only white, it never will be. But commercialized vice and organized crime are on the run."

"We can rely to the world that Chicago is cleaning up again. Long before the World's Fair opens, if present policies prevail, this city will be the cleanest and safest in the world."

Cincinnati, O., April 14.—(Special.)—More arrests by federal prohibition officers in Covington, Ky., are expected to augment what is declared the largest batch of bootleggers ever sentenced at one time in America. This was indicated tonight by government agents who worked up the cases resulting in Saturday's sentencing of 144 dry law violators, both men and women, in the United States court's campaign to sop up the famous "moonshine" of northern Kentucky.

New York, April 14.—(Special.)—Dr. Franklin Martin of Chicago, chairman of the executive committee of the Gorgas Memorial Institute of Tropical and Preventive Medicine and president of the American College of Surgeons, returned today on the United Fruit liner Calumet from Panama, where he went to attend the opening of the Gorgas Memorial laboratory on March 25. Dr. Martin said he had gone to Panama under the impression that the government of the republic was only leasing the new building to the Gorgas memorial committee for use as a clinic for tropical diseases for three years.

At the dedication L. F. Clement, the secretary of agriculture, announced in his speech that the building and its medical equipment were a donation to the Gorgas memorial as an appreciation of the cooperation of the Panama government in the work of eradicating disease in the country.

"It was certainly a most pleasant surprise," said Dr. Martin, "and I lost no time in accepting the handsome building, with its medical and scientific equipment."

Chicago's steady increase in population carries in its wake an ever-increasing rise in property values. A recent check-up reveals that far-sighted individuals have profited up to several hundred per cent on real estate investments made in some of the newer sections of Chicago.

An example has come to light of a Mr. "A," who, in 1914, purchased residence lot number 10, block 25, in Harmon's Chatham Fields for $590. Mr. "A" was at that time subjected to criticism and ridicule by his friends and relatives, but today's Olcott's Blue Book of Real Estate Values places a worth of $4,950 on this lot.

Since 1914, the date of purchase, this property has shown an increase of 739%, or an average annual increase of 53%. Chatham Fields was placed on sale by the Harmon organization only 15 years ago.

DRYS OF BRITAIN START "BORING IN" VOTE FIGHT

Adopt Plan Once Used by U. S. Drink Foes.

BY JOHN STEELE.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
LONDON, April 14. — The coming general election in England will see the first real attempt of the prohibitionists to persuade Great Britain to follow the lead of the United States. The methods of the temperance group are strongly similar to those of the American dries. The prohibition question is being floated above all others, and adherents to the dry cause are being urged to put aside all other matters and vote for candidates on the basis of their attitude toward prohibition. The Methodist Church is leading the dry movement just as was the case in America.

A solid block of votes variously estimated between a million and a half and two million will be cast on the basis of the temperance views of the candidates, leaders claim. There will be no prohibition candidates, but the dries will support in each district whichever candidate truckies to their views, whether conservative, labor or reform. It is stated that the English dries, like the American variety, will present themselves to the theory that prohibition shall take precedence over everything.

Starts with Modest Demands.
The dry movement is beginning modestly, as was the case in the United States. The initial demands of the temperance faction are modest enough, because they know that at present the popular sentiment is against them. Their hopes have risen with the adoption to the electorate of the "drys" vote in this election, which means that the women are now outvoting the men.

They are addressing all candidates on the following three questions: Will you support the measure to secure strict control of intoxicating liquor? Will you support the local option measure, including the option for no license? Will you support the measure for closing bars on Sundays?

Methodists Form Organization.
The organization which is pushing the dry sentiment in the present campaign is called "On Active Service." It was organized by the Rev. Henry Carter, secretary of the Wesleyan Methodist temperance committee, which is analogous to the Methodist board of temperance and public morals in America.

If the dries' claim of control of 2,000,000 votes is realized and if a distribution of these votes happens to favor them, it is not inconceivable that a dry majority will be returned to the house of commons. In that case, politicians say, the same fanaticism may be expected from the prohibitionists here as in America, once they have tasted power.

Parliament's single prohibition member, Edwin Scrymgeour, who was elected on a dry platform in Dundee, does not believe England's dry movement will be effective. He says the English electorate will vote for party platforms rather than the private views of the candidates on the dry question.

Henry S. White, 74 years old, 8233 North Oakley avenue, former associate editor of the Popular Mechanics magazine, shot himself in the head at his home yesterday. He died of the wound early this morning at the Ravenswood hospital, where he was taken by Summerdale police. Eugene White, a son, ascribed his father's act to despondency induced by several years of illness. The son heard the shot and found his father lying on the back porch of their home, a revolver in his hand.

TWO FAMILIES FIGHT WITH GUNS; 2 DEAD, 4 HURT

Trouble Starts Following
Divorce Suit.

North Platte, Neb., April 14.—(AP)—Charles Moore and his son, Frank, of Dunning, Neb., are dead, and O. A. Ridenour of Sutherland, Neb., is in a hospital with a gunshot wound over the heart, while three sons of the latter were shot in the arms as the result of a family quarrel between the Moores and Ridenours last night.

The shooting was the culmination of a divorce action started last August, when Mrs. Frank Moore, a daughter of O. A. Ridenour, started divorce proceedings. The action was to have been heard in the Lincoln county District court this week. Mrs. Moore had custody of their three children.

The elder Moore, his son, and a former hired girl in the Moore family, who is alleged to have been the cause of the divorce action, went to the Ridenour farm home near Sutherland last night with the intention, it was said, of obtaining possession of the children.

An argument ensued and the elder Moore, shooting through a screen door, shot O. A. Ridenour and wounded John Ridenour, a son, in the arm.

Frank Moore and Archie Ridenour were scuffling in the room when Frank's gun was discharged and Archie received a revolver wound in the arm, it is said.

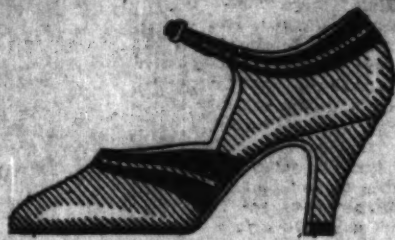

The Moores then started to retreat and John Ridenour is alleged to have shot Charles Moore in the back of the head with a shotgun, firing from a window. Frank Moore then was shot, but it has not been determined who fired the shot.

Russel Keller, who came from Dunning with the Moores and remained in their car, said nine shots were fired. The two Moores fell dead in the front yard. Mrs. Moore, wife of Frank Moore, and their three children, were in the house.

SENATORS SEEK 5 NEW DISTRICTS FOR COOK COUNTY

Draft Map as Basis of Assembly Fight.

As the first hurdle they must surmount, the three Cook county state senators, constituting the majority of the subcommittee in charge of remapping the state to conform with the constitution, are tackling the job of drawing the boundaries of twenty-four districts to replace the nineteen to which the downstaters have until now limited the county.

Those three — Senators Herman J. Haanlech, Thomas J. Courtney, and Arthur A. Husbach — have accepted the deft of the anti-conformists, or nullificationists, and have started on the task of preparing a bill in obedience to the constitutional mandate to redistrict the state in accordance with the federal census. They recognize that one of their most difficult problems will be to draw the lines in this county in a way that will gain the support of the senators and representatives now representing Chicago and its suburbs.

Effort Failed in 1925.

It was in 1925 that a similar effort toward remapping went on the rocks because some of the Cook county senators objected to the changes proposed in their own districts, and downstate laughed heartily. It was largely because of recollection of that episode that Senator Richard J. Barr, still a senate boss, devised the scheme of putting the problem in the hands of a subcommittee controlled by Cook county.

But members of the subcommittee say they have no delusions about their job, that they know their starting point must be at home, and they are determined to do everything possible to line up a solid delegation behind the map on which they are working. They intend to insist that the districts in Chicago and its suburbs must sacrifice their present advantages in order to get fair representation for every body.

The chief of those individual advantages lies in the fact that six of the nineteen local districts fall below the constitutional requirement of 161,728 population—the minimum established by taking four-fifths of the district ratio established by dividing the population of the state by fifty-one.

Hope to Still Complaints.

A number of senators and representatives would profit by the continued existence of these pocket boroughs, but the three subcommittee members insist that they will work out the Cook county lines in a way that will stop completely any complaint that the present legislature are being discriminated against.

"I will agree to any changes found necessary in my own district," said Chairman Haanlech, "and I believe not only that the other members of the subcommittee will do the same but that all the senators and representatives from this county will sacrifice any benefits they may receive from the present situation in order to meet downstate's challenge to show that Chicago and the country towns are a unit in this demand for fair treatment."

"My own seat is of minor conse-

MISS ST. JOSEPH

MISS LOU ALLIE BARLOW.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
St. Joseph, Mich., April 14.—Lou Allie Barlow, chosen as "Miss St. Joseph" for the blossom festival May 5 to 12, has dramatic talent. She was a student at the school of speech of Northwestern university and hopes to enter repertoire company of the Goodman Memorial theater, Chicago, next fall. Miss Barlow is the elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Barlow. He is a former county treasurer. Miss Barlow is a member of Omega Upsilon sorority. She is a brunette. She is declared to be eligible to the D. A. R.

quence when it comes to getting a fair deal for Chicago," said Senator Courtney.

Will Risk His Seat.

"They can do anything with my district that they choose," said Senator Haanlech. "I'm willing to take my chances on reelection. If we can end this situation, which has been aptly described as 'taxation without representation.'"

Under the state constitution reapportionment must be based on the last federal census—in this instance the figures of 1920—and on this basis the six Chicago pocket boroughs which must be increased in size, with the names of the senators, are as follows:

District	Senator	Population
1	Joseph H. H. ...	61,728
2	Joseph H. H. ...	61,728
3	John J. ...	74,081
4	John J. ...	68,098
5	John J. ...	74,081
6	John J. ...	68,098

According to the constitution each of these districts must be increased in territory to a point where it will have at least 161,728 residents, and considerable "bucking" is predicted; but the subcommittee is hopeful of success.

In this connection it is pointed out that the better class residence sections of Chicago are discriminated against under the present conditions; that, for example, a resident of the Twentieth, or Chicago, ward who gets up in the world and moves northward to Lake View territory will have less weight there than he now has in picking the men who make the laws for the state. This was stated plainly by a reapportionment committee named by former Mayor Dever, which used this phraseology: "Some of our best residential districts, with the highest percentage of literacy, the fewest aliens and the greatest number of law observing people, have only one-fifth of the representation given to these defaulting districts."

The chief argument of downstate against giving Chicago its full share of representation is the character of the man it now sends to Springfield. The answer of the subcommittee is that a better grade of men will go there from the metropolis if the pocket boroughs are wiped out.

FEDERAL AIRMEN BOMB ESCOBAR'S TROOPS IN PASS

Rebels Entrench Near San Blas, Sinaloa.

BY JOHN CORNYN.

MEXICO CITY, April 14.—Federal airmen, flying over Pulpito pass yesterday and today, located Gen. Escobar's rebel troops and bombed them, as well as the landing field south of Agua Prieta and the camp of Gen. Topete at La Morita.

The aviators report that Gen. Escobar's forces are now reduced to about 100 men and other troops, which were carried in eight auto trucks and were touring cars.

Chapultepec Castle was without power today from the rebel general, Rabatte, who yesterday offered the surrender of about 5,000 men in Sonora, formerly under control of Gen. Francisco Manzo. President Gil's reply to the offer was that the surrender must be unconditional. According to the Mexican consul at Nogales, Sonora, Rabatte has gone south to confer with other rebel generals on the matter.

Says Revolt Nears End.

A statement issued from Chapultepec concerning the offer of surrender was accompanied by the assertion that the revolution is now nearing its end and the revolutionists are disappointed in the hopeless condition of the rebel forces at all points and the major of large sections being cut off from the main bodies and being forced to fight under unfavorable conditions, with the certainty of being defeated.

Gen. Escobar was at Coralitos, Sinaloa, when he was bombed.

TO GET OFFICE

Miss Dorothy Cunningham, Marquisville, Ind., Republican national committeewoman for Indiana, to be made collector of internal revenue.

Jimenez, and La Reforma for the same reason.

Except for a comparatively few rebel sympathizers, who maintain that Gen. Rabatte has no influence over the Sonora revolutionary army, the general opinion here is that the revolution is on the rocks. It is believed the retreat of Gen. Faustos Topete southward from Naco, announced this morning, is to prevent the surrender of the revolutionary forces and settle accounts with Gen. Rabatte, who is said to be popular with Gen. Manzo's army.

Gen. Topete will have to face 2,000 men.

federal troops in Guaymas and a disorganized rebel army in a country where fighting is difficult and many places afford excellent facilities for an ambush.

The federalists are in possession of Guaymas, and they also have control of Empalme, a few miles distant, with the extensive machine shops belonging to the Southern Pacific and dominate the latter railway south and north from Guaymas, which forms a port of entry for more federal troops and war supplies.

Cardenas Reaches Guaymas.

The federal possession of Guaymas has driven a wedge into the rebel military organization on the Pacific coast which Generals Escobar, and Topete will find hard to draw out. All about Guaymas on every side except the port and river mouth are hills affording excellent positions for strongly fortifying the town.

Federal forces under command of Gen. Lazaro Cardenas reached Guaymas, Sinaloa, today from where he plans to make a drive on rebel forces at San Blas. Owing to the destruction of the railroad by the retreating rebels Gen. Cardenas is being delayed in his march, and it is believed it will be several days before his objective is reached.

Aviators who flew over San Blas report the rebels are entrenching in the hills on the north bank of the Rio del Puente, just beyond San Blas.

Rebels Move Toward Nogales.

AGUA PRIETA, Sonora, Mexico, April 14.—(AP)—Preparing for a hurried departure toward the south, Escobar today ordered his staff and troops here to move to Nogales, Sonora, immediately.

More than 2,000 soldiers which crossed through Pulpito pass after the insurgents evacuated Chihuahua, reached here today. They, too, are to proceed to Nogales.

When the army is reunited at Nogales, Escobar plans to move to Guaymas, a Gulf of California port almost directly south of Nogales on the Southern Pacific of Mexico railroad line. Reports that federal troops have occupied Guaymas were denied here.

A Mexican federal airplane bombed Agua Prieta today and, indirectly, accomplished its purpose of destroying the remaining rebel airplane. The federal ship dropped several 70 pound bombs on the outskirts of the town. When the bomber departed toward Pulpito Pass two American flyers took the air in an effort to overtake it. After a short flight they landed and crashed through a barbed wire fence. The plane was wrecked beyond repair. The flyers, Tommy Carter and Art Smith, were not injured.

Escobar Fires General.

JUAREZ, Mex., April 14.—(AP)—Further dissension and dissatisfaction among Mexican rebel generals was reported today around Agua Prieta, Sonora, where concentration of insurgent forces continued. Three generals were said to have been dismissed by the rebel generalissimo, Escobar, for insubordination.

Two trains of Mexican federal soldiers from Chihuahua City arrived in Juarez this afternoon. The first train, loaded with infantrymen, arrived in this border city at 4:30 p. m., and the second, a cavalry train, reached here at 4:45. Gen. Juan Andres Almazan, division commander of the Mexican federal army in the state of Chihuahua, arrived on a third troop train at 5 p. m.

Claims Rebels Kidnaped Him.

El Paso, Tex., April 14.—(AP)—Al Coenen returned today to El Paso with a story of having been kidnaped by Mexican rebels because of his knowledge of airplanes, but P. D. Wynne, who had been drilling water wells near Casas Grandes, where Coenen had reported he was held, declared the young American was released by the insurgents when a plane he had repaired could not leave the ground.

Wynne, who told reporters he just had returned from his work near Casas Grandes, said Coenen was paid $400 for his services and that he (Wynne) was allowed to leave Casas Grandes only when he promised to return Coenen to the United States.

Sets 3 in Los Angeles.

Los Angeles, Cal., April 14.—(U.P.)—A plan to provide Mexican rebels with airplane bombs made in the United States was believed to have been exposed here today with the arrest of three men and the seizure of 31 cases of explosive picnic acids.

One of the trio was said to have told police that the acid was to have been removed to Phoenix, Ariz., by automobile and that other ingredients would have been supplied in the Arizona city to produce a powerful explosive used for aerial bombing.

TEXTILE UNION TO BE ORGANIZED BY PROTESTANT

Greensboro, N. C., April 14.—(AP)—Immediate organization of North Carolina mill workers under the auspices of the United Textile Workers' union by "a southerner and a Protestant" was placed upon the program of the North Carolina Federation of Labor at a meeting of its executive committee here today.

The first step will be a mass meeting here tomorrow night with Edward F. McGrady, vice president of the American Federation of Labor, and Thomas F. McMahon, president of the United Textile Workers, as speakers.

An organizer, who, according to T. A. Wilson, president of the State Federation of Labor, must be a native of the south and a member of the Protestant church, will be selected.

Mr. Wilson said no effort would be made to organize workers at Gastonia, N. C., where the National Textile Workers' union is leading a strike.

SOVIETS 'HONOR SAVANT; GIVE HIM BED IN OWN HOME

(Chicago Tribune From Service.)
RIGA, Latvia, April 14.—The Comintern's Pravda reports that the Leningrad soviet has granted Prof. Semenov-Sheraki, president of the state entomological institute, free rent for the rest of his life in his former apartment. The grant is a reward for his forty years of scientific research.

The soviet, however, decreed that upon his death the contents of the room, which contains his library, as well as his private collection of specimens, will go to a state museum.

Prof. Sheraki is one of the professors to which the Rockefeller Foundation gave material aid and assistance before its representative was expelled from Russia. Billed in his apartment are eight families of Leningrad workers, and until now the aged professor has slept in his office.

ENDS LIFE BY GAS.

Charles Billhart, 74 years old, a retired carpenter, who made his home with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Boettcher at 1084 Alameda street, committed suicide by inhaling gas yesterday in his room.

MERGER OF THREE GREAT AIR LINES NOW UNDER WAY

Aviation Corporation Buys
Colonial Company.

BY TOM PETTEY.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
New York, April 14.—(Special.)—Aviation corporation, the great holding and development company, recently formed by a group of wealthy bankers, has taken another major step toward the merger of all important air transport lines into one great system.

It was learned here today that control of Colonial Airways system is to pass into the hands of Aviation corporation, through an exchange of stock. At the same time it also was revealed that aviation corporation soon will take control of the Embury Riddle company of Cincinnati, which flies passengers and air mail between Chicago and Cincinnati by way of Indianapolis.

Control of Two Units.

The control of these two units will give Aviation corporation air lines connections from Kansas City, Minneapolis, Chicago, St. Louis and Cincinnati through to New York and Boston with a branch extending to Montreal.

The great operating base for New York will be at Roosevelt field, recently merged with Curtiss field and acquired by Aviation corporation.

Admitting the acquisition of Colonial Airways, Graham B. Grosvenor, president of Aviation corporation, said today:

"A contract embodying the terms under which Aviation corporation is to obtain control of the Colonial group has been executed between our executive committee and a stockholders' committee of the Colonial, made up of Maj. Gen. John F. O'Ryan, head of Colonial; Gov. John T. Trumbull of Connecticut; former Senator James F. Wadsworth and Cecil Stewart. A stock exchange plan predicated on this agreement is committed to the Colonial stockholders in a letter from their committee which should reach them Monday."

Ryan to Remain President.

The completion of the transaction, it was said, would find Gen. O'Ryan remaining as directing head of the Colonial system and serving as a vice president and member of the board of directors of Aviation corporation. Assurance has been received that Aviation corporation will obtain 51 per cent of the stock of the Colonial group. Air Investors, Inc., a New York investment trust, will figure with Aviation corporation in taking over control of the Embury Riddle company. An exchange of stock, it was said, has been arranged for shareholders in the Cincinnati concern who wish

Aviation Notes

The annual national air tour to be held from Oct. 5 to 21 will cover 2,300 miles, and the itinerary will be extended to several cities in Canada. It was announced in Detroit yesterday at the close of the all-American aircraft show. The planes will start from Detroit and proceed to St. Paul, Des Moines, Kansas City, Atlanta, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York, Augusta, Me., Ottawa, Montreal, Toronto, Windsor, and return to Detroit.

Lawrence W. Scudder has been elected president of the Gray Goose company, it was announced yesterday by the United Aviation corporation. Other officials elected were J. Parker Van Sandt and W. Despit, vice president; C. H. Ross, secretary, and G. F. Smith, treasurer. The directors elected were Mr. Scudder, Allan Jackson, H. M. Berry, Paul H. Moss, and W. Despit.

Maj. M. D. Mann, commander of the 100th observation squadron, and two officers of that squadron, have organized a company to be known as the Continental Air Services. It will act as sales agents for the Travelair monoplane and conduct a flying school from the municipal airport, it was stated.

Officials of the municipal airport yesterday estimated that nearly 15,000 persons visited the flying field during the day. Automobiles jammed the highways and the grounds overflowed on to the flying field. Six trimotored passenger planes were kept busy carrying sightseers over the city.

to obtain shares in Aviation corporation.

Since its formation three months ago, Aviation corporation, in addition to these companies, has obtained control of Fairchild interests, including its plant and field at Farmingdale, Long Island, and all of its subsidiaries. Fairchild's is to be its manufacturing unit, and plans are under way for the building of multimotored air transports of the seaplane type in addition to smaller ships.

Two Round Trips Daily.

Colonial Airways begins its regular passenger service between New York and Boston tomorrow. It will use Wasp powered, trimotored Ford planes and will make two round trips daily except Sunday. Colonial, through its subsidiaries, also operates sight-seeing planes at Newark, N. J. airport, and it was a Colonial Ford plane that crashed several weeks ago at Newark, killing 16 persons.

The Embury Riddle company, in addition to its air lines, operates air taxi services and flying schools at each of its terminals. This branch of its activities will be greatly developed in the middle west, it was said, by the organization in Cincinnati of a "flying university," where advanced courses in commercial flying will be taught.

At Chicago, the Embury Riddle lines connect with the airways of Universal Aviation corporation and again at Cincinnati connection is made with Continental Airways.

AERONAUTICS NO LONGER INFANT U. S. DEPARTMENT

Is in Midst of Expansion Program.

Washington, D. C., April 14.—(Special.)—The aeronautics branch, infant bureau of the department of commerce, has grown up. As the result of the tremendous increase in aeronautical activity throughout the United States, the branch, which enforces the air commerce act, is now in the throes of a major expansion program.

This was revealed today when it was announced that the personnel which has been laboring for months under a flood of work too great for it to handle, is to be increased 31 per cent, while the office space allotted to it is to be increased more than one-third to permit installation of necessary equipment.

New Activities Added.

The expansion program also is planned to provide for new activities, including the rating of airports and aviation schools, new divisions for which are now being organized. The information section, which has charge of examination of candidates for pilots' and mechanics' licenses, has long been flooded.

The necessity for the expansion of the facilities of the branch, which was made possible by a grant of funds in the second deficiency act, was revealed by figures showing the tremendous increase in the activities of the licensing section. For the period of the fiscal year ending April 6, the branch has received 5,481 applications for pilots' licenses, as against 4,134 on April 7 a year ago. A total of 3,334 applications for renewal of licenses was on file as against 222 last year.

Swarms of Student Applicants.

One of the greatest increases was in the number of student applicants, of which there were 15,523 on April 6, as against 1,550 last year. A total of 7,311 applications for mechanic licenses had been received as against 3,593 last year.

During the last year licenses for aircraft more than doubled, 7,000 applications having been received up to April 6 as against 3,593 last year. The branch also had received 418 licenses, and had received applications for identification of 2,333 planes as against 1,233 last year. To date this year titles to 5,485 aircraft have been transferred as against 1,052 last year.

MUD SNAILS TOP JUNGLE MENU OF STRANDED FLYERS

Relief Plane Finds All Weak from Hunger.

BY JACK MYERS.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
STONEY, N. S. W., April 14.—How the crew of the airplane Southern Cross subsisted for twelve days on rain forest consisting of wild beans boiled in water and mud snails was told today in a dispatch received here from the pilot of the Heath relief plane which made a landing alongside the stranded flyers Thursday.
All four of the crew had a full stomach of heard and declared they were just about done when the Canberra arrived with food.
Navigator H. A. Ditchfield looked the fittest, having waited for two days alongside the plane for a probable rescue party. The flyers said they were exhausted to attempt walking to George mission.
Walked Two Miles for Water.
Further hardships, they said, were caused by their being forced to walk two miles for water, which in their state was a serious matter. The relief supply which was provided by the relief plane was received with great joy. Care was taken not to overeat. The Southern Cross is not damaged.

but how it made a successful forced landing on a mud flat amid wooded hills is a mystery, and Capt. Charles Kingsford-Smith said that if he can get 75 gallons of petrol he can get away on his own power.

Health Will Transport Petrol.
The relief plane has undertaken to transport the petrol by next Friday. This will give the mud bank time to dry and enable Capt. Kingsford-Smith and the others to regain sufficient strength to clear some extra ground sufficient for a runway.

Having seen the relief plane land beside the Southern Cross, the Canberra returned to Derby on Saturday and left today with outstar for the Southern Cross. No word has been heard from Lieut. Keith Anderson and Robert Hitchcock, who have been missing for several days. They vanished while searching for the Southern Cross. Capt. Kingsford-Smith told the pilot of the relief plane that they had sighted several planes flying over them but were unable to attract attention to their position.

Wants Some Ham Sausages.

Capt. Uim's message to his wife reads: "All O. K., but still very weak from starvation. Have Garney, Malley, Phyl, Madge, and Jerry on deck for blood oranges and bananas."

Mrs. Uim explained the names mentioned were all old friends, who, like Capt. Uim, relished smoked ham sausages, which they called blood oranges. He evidently wished this as his homecoming feast.

The plane Canberra, on its second visit, left a large variety of articles, including malted milk, tinned meats, sugar, salt, tobacco, cigarettes, matches, pipes, mosquito nets, citronella, shirts, trousers, fishing lines, revolvers and cartridges, green vegetables, fruit, sheets, blankets, and radio aerial wire.

She Wouldn't Wear The Hats They Wore in 1910

Why The Glasses?

It is difficult to realize, but not so far back, shall rimmed glasses, cumbersome and conspicuous as they are, were popular. The effect of many a smart street ensemble and evening gown was ruined before glasses were appreciated as a part of dress.

Then Almer Coe & Company, introduced new rimless styles—graceful unobtrusive glasses, with white gold mountings. And now the shell rims are passé. Today they are seldom worn, except for sportswear or for reading at home.

To the few, who may have clung to them because too accustomed to their wear to change, it is suggested that you try one of the new Almer Coe rimless models—we promise you will make an immediate gratifying selection.

For those who require rims, a wide selection of finely designed white gold rimmed frames are available.

REOPEN LAKES DIVERSION FIGHT AS LEVELS RISE

Chicago Foes to Present Arguments Today.

Chicago. The greed of water power interests is at the bottom of the attack on the Chicago and the state of New York.

The more water is taken from the lake at Chicago the less water there will be to drive turbines at Niagara Falls and in the St. Lawrence river. Canada and New York calculate that water power is worth five times as much developed at Niagara Falls as at Lockport and points on the Illinois river, because of the greater fall at Niagara and the greater industrial demand.

Fight Gains Waterway.

The lake states fighting Chicago intend to oppose congressional authorization in connection with a lakes to the Gulf waterway of a greater diversion than allowed by the Supreme court. They intend to fight the legislation, despite its advocacy by President Hoover as a part of his vast project of inland waterway development. If they are defeated in congress they contemplate carrying their fight to the Supreme court again on the ground of the unconstitutionality of the diversion of water from the St. Lawrence to the Mississippi river watershed.

The complaint lake states valued this point in the suit decided last January, but the Supreme court did not pass on it. The court contented itself with deciding the case on statutory instead of constitutional grounds. It found that under the statute it was allowable to divert only enough water to preserve navigation in the Chicago river.

In his report as special master, Mr. Hughes had asserted the belief that the diversion of water from one watershed to another is constitutional and cited Supreme court decisions indicating an identical view on the part of that tribunal.

Stated on question in 1906. Decision by the Supreme court of the diversion of water from the St. Lawrence to the Mississippi watershed, would not deprive Canada from raising the issue, although the dominion in negotiating the boundary water treaty in 1909 was silent on the question of the Chicago diversion.

This silence was chiefly the result, however, of the deal which gave Canada authority to divert 24,000 second feet of water at Niagara Falls for power development, while the United

FIRST U. S. MINISTER TO ACCEPT EVOLUTION PHILOSOPHY HONORED

Omaha, Neb., April 14.—(AP)—The strength of the character of Newton Mann, former minister of the First Unitarian church here, and first American preacher to accept and proclaim the philosophy of evolution, was portrayed in the memorial service on the unveiling of a bronze tablet in his honor at the church here today.

Dr. Charles Lytle, minister of the church in 1921-1922, and at present a teacher at the Methodist theological seminary in Chicago, delivered the memorial address. He described Dr. Mann as an intellectual and religious pioneer; one who had, by his own thought and efforts, raised himself to a superior plane, and then dedicated his life to the guidance of the free spirit.

H. A. Mann, son of Newton Mann, was in the congregation.

States, in consideration of the diversion of 10,000 second feet at Chicago, bound itself in the treaty to take no more than 20,000 second feet at Niagara.

In Its Decision Last January the Supreme court held it permissible, under the statute, to divert only enough water at Chicago to prevent obstruction to navigation of the Chicago river. This, said the court, would be but a negligible fraction of the present diversion.

Calvin Division Figure. Gen. Edwin calculated that when the sewage reduction works now under construction are complete there will be a sewage effluent which it will be necessary to dilute with no more than 1,500 second feet of lake water in order to preserve the Chicago and Calumet rivers from pollution. With the withdrawal for potable and other domestic purposes added, he estimated that the total diversion necessary in connection with the Chicago and Calumet rivers alone would be 3,500 second feet ultimately.

But that amount of diversion would not keep the Illinois river free of pollution and consideration of the needs of navigation therein caused him to raise the estimate of the ultimate amount of diversion to 5,000 second feet.

"It is not practicable to state at this time what the amount of diversion is that may be needed in the Chicago river to meet the requirements of navigation in the broad sense," Gen. Edwin said. "It may be that the proper portion would be feasible and enable the United States to secure the fullest benefits of the navigation possibilities of the inland river system of waterways in connection with the Great Lakes water system, when and if such increases are indicated."

Chas Another Requirement.

"Besides providing water necessary for adequate depths and widths of channels, another requisite for navigation of the Illinois river is that the water should not be unreasonably of fensive. This matter has been studied by sanitary engineers employed by this department. They made an elaborate study and advised that 4.167 c. f. a. total flow measured at Lockport was the minimum total diversion necessary, with the activated sludge method of sewage purification and with a 90 per cent retarding, to prevent the occurrence of a nuisance in the Illinois and Des Moines rivers and to permit fish life therein.

"There may be some room for argument as to this standard, but it seems certain that with too little water the river will be so foul as to be a most serious menace to the health of the workers upon vessels and at terminals. Certainly, it is not possible to specify at this time the precise amount of water required to keep the waterway in a reasonably acceptable condition for navigation many years hence, with the growth of the city, changes in the sanitary art and other developments not yet foreseen.

May Show Greater Need.

"The diversion eventually required can only be stated in round figures. To allow for contingencies, I have placed the eventual amount at 5,000 c. f. a. measured at Lockport. "It therefore appears that the diversion required for navigation in the Chicago river proper may not be the controlling factor in fixing the ultimate diversion, but that the need of an inland waterways system, when determined and defined by congress or, under its authority, by the chief of engineers and the secretary of war, may prove to be greater than those for navigation in the Chicago river itself.

"In other words, although local navigation on the Chicago river may be safeguarded by a total diversion of about 3,500 c. f. a. measured at Lockport the through navigation between Chicago and the Mississippi system will require about 5,000 c. f. a. to keep the water in the channels south of Chicago in acceptable condition with an as yet undetermined but possibly greater flow required for the maintenance of adequate channel depths and widths."

Austin, Tex., April 14.—(AP)—Severe winds and without warning, a tornado of miniature proportions demolished seven homes at Southville, 45 miles southeast of here, early today, and injured four in one family, whose residence was lifted from its foundation and hurled a twisted mass into a nearby street.

PARLEY ON DEBTS FACES SPLIT ON ALLIED DEMAND

Germany Offers 4 Billions
Under What Is Asked.

PARIS, April 14.—(AP)—The allied experts on revision of German reparations, their adjusted bill in the hands of the German delegate, hoped tonight that within another 24 hours they would learn whether Germany was prepared to come any nearer to meeting their demands than the difference of four billion dollars that has existed. Confidential, but apparently reliable, sources gave the allied bill as about five billion dollars, to be increased by interest on deferred payments, to the best offer of Germany has been eight billion dollars. It is possible that the allied bill as presented by Hjalmar Schacht yesterday will be made public tomorrow at the time that he replies to it.

Following after a hectic week in which the allied delegates strained every effort and skated on thin ice to reach agreement among themselves, the announcement that their findings had been criticized in Washington came as a sort of anti-climax. The meeting of President Hoover with his secretaries of state and treasury created mild excitement here. The German delegation was silent. It seemed that the German mind regarded the American bill of $134,000,000 for the cost of the Rhine occupation as secondary to the larger question of total reparations.

American delegates to the reparations committee again said that they do not represent the United States government, have no authority to act for it, have received no instructions and made no concessions, and have no power to make any on either accounts of the Rhine occupation or of the German debt. It was denied without qualification that Washington had sent a note to Chairman Owen D. Young.

The violent reaction of the German press against what they term the "impossible exigencies of the allied powers" appears to have stiffened French opinion. It also is felt that if the American congress refuses to ratify any reduction in the Coblenz reparations expenses, the French parliament will insist on full reparations for the war devastated regions. The general French opinion seems to be that the experts committee will deliver its findings with the decision that the problem was not yet ripe for solution.

Presidentism in Germany.
BERLIN, April 14.—(AP)—Presidentism prevailed in Germany today over the outcome of the attempts of the international experts at Paris to revise German reparations. The allied memorandum, assuming its content has been correctly reflected in the French press, has met with a solid "unacceptable" throughout Germany, although the official reply is yet to be made. In political circles the impression prevailed that the experts, failing to compromise, may substitute a temporary solution for perhaps the next five years. It was not believed that they would be content to disband with the problem exactly as it was when they began in February.

The allied memorandum was interpreted here as showing that those experts had been swayed by political considerations, while the German delegation was held to have recognized capacity to pay as the only basis. The German press solidly insists that Dr. Hjalmar Schacht and his fellow delegates should refuse to accept the allied bill.

RABBI MANN RAPS MEDICS' STAND IN DUSTING SCHMIDT

Rosenwald Fund Director
Shows Patients' Need.

The question of providing medical service to persons of moderate means was discussed from two angles yesterday. Rabbi Louis L. Mann, addressing a large congregation at the temple, 4600 Grand boulevard, attacked the "short sighted and unethical stand" taken by the Chicago Medical society, which ousted Dr. Louis L. Schmidt, famous physician, from membership because of his connection with the Public Health Institute, which advertises.

At the same time Michael M. Davis, director of the Julius Rosenwald fund, who is in charge of plans for the foundation of a clinic for the middle classes, revealed in an article to be published in the May issue of "The Modern Hospital" statistics showing the need of low priced medical care for persons of moderate means.

Dr. Davis asserted that the uncertainty of sickness and, therefore, of sickness bills creates a difficulty which may be answered only by the establishment of medical service which will not bankrupt the earners of the United States who receive less than $5,000 a year. Ninety-eight per cent of the people are included in this class, the statistics revealed.

"The names of the officers of the Public Health Institute alone bear testimony to the character of its service," Dr. Mann declared. "Since its foundation a few years ago, 2,000,000 treatments have been given to 140,000 citizens of Chicago who have come to it for help at a very nominal cost.

Gives $30,000 for Charity.

"The Institute makes a few cents profit on each treatment and with this money has contributed $12,000 a year for a research scholarship at the University of Chicago, $12,000 for free beds at St. Luke's hospital, and has given $12,000 a year to the Illinois Social Hygiene league for treatment of the poor.

"A vast majority of the patients, almost 80 per cent, who come to the Institute for treatment make less than $3,000 a year. Inasmuch as 'social' disease requires two treatments a week over a period of two or more years, these people could not possibly visit a regular physician.

What the Chicago Medical association called advertising was merely publicity material to attract diseased people who otherwise would infect large numbers of other persons.

"The poorest people in the community, about 10 per cent, receive the best medical care as charity patients. The richest, also about 10 per cent, receive the best medical care because they can afford to pay for it. The great majority, who constitute the middle class, cannot afford to be sick without going into debt after completely using up their savings accounts.

"The Association of Commerce is to be congratulated on its attitude. The right minded people will back Dr. Schmidt because of his humanitarian efforts. It is fortunate that Dr. Schmidt's reputation is so spotless that the issue is clearly drawn. The Chicago Medical society will be called upon by sheer force of public opinion to make its adjustment with the new order of the day. Like Ibsen's 'Master Builder,' they hesitate to permit the wheels of progress to roll on."

Mr. Davis' article, entitled "The patient of moderate means—shall we help him?" contained the following data, gathered by the National Bureau of Economic Research, showing the percentages of American wage earners in the various income classifications:

Over $5,000	5 per cent
$3,000 to $5,000	5 per cent
$2,000 to $3,000	14 per cent
$1,000 to $2,000	25 per cent
$500 to $1,000	30 per cent
Less than $500	21 per cent

There is a great mass of families self-supporting on between $1,500 and $2,500 a year," Mr. Davis declared.

They are the mass who are often in predicament because of the high cost of sickness. High school teachers, university professors, young lawyers, and 500,000 wives of white collar workers hasten to assure us that, even though their incomes may be in the $1,500 to $2,500 group, they are in this predicament, too.

STEGE PROPOSES POLICE STAFF OF BULLET EXPERTS

Plans Special Bureau to Sift Crime Evidence.

Establishment of a bureau of experts employing the knowledge of men expertly trained in ballistics, the science of bullets and firearms, was being proposed last night by Deputy Commissioner of Police John Stege. The deputy, commander of all the city's detective forces, will lay his scheme before Commissioner Russell today and if the latter approves will make the new bureau a regular adjunct of the detective branch.

Deputy Stege's planning was the result of disclosures concerning the seizure of firearms made Saturday by Officer Herman N. Bunden and Mal Calvin H. Goddard of New York, the country's most noted authority on ballistics. Deputy Stege announced his intention while a dozen bureau squads were searching for George Maloney, gangster, who stood accused as the slayer of three men after an examination of bullets taken from their bodies showed that all three had been shot with Maloney's gun.

Will Preserve all Evidence. "The plan," Deputy Stege said, "is to start a bureau primarily for the preservation of evidence. Men are to be trained in obtaining the evidence which exists at the scene of a crime before it is disturbed. This will include the careful retention of all the physical conditions sur-

BRITISH LOTTERY ON DERBY TO CUT TAXES IS URGED

(Copyright, 1929, by the New York Times.) LONDON, April 14.—Now that the Stock Exchange sweepstakes on the English Derby, which is a private affair among the members, has been closed at a record total of $5,000,000, prominent sportsmen are advising the government to institute a national lottery on next year's event with a view to relieving taxation.

The Stock Exchange sweepstakes tickets, at a cost of $5, are most difficult to obtain, yet only a shortage of tickets prevented the fund from being closed within a week. It is estimated that if the government issued half dollar tickets through the postoffice at least 50 million tickets would be sold in London.

"The time has come," writes one racing expert, "when the government should tap the great flow of money pouring into these vast pools. The cries of those holding up their hands in horror at any government encouraging this gambling would be drowned in the roar of popular acclaim from millions."

rounding a crime at the moment it is discovered. It will include, of course, the preservation and careful marking of bullets, which now stand revealed as of the highest importance in establishing the identity of criminals, particularly in homicide cases, the hardest we have to deal with.

Six to Study Firearms. Deputy Stege would not discuss the details of his plans but stated that they include sending six men now on the department to New York with Maj. Goddard. These men, he said, are to be picked for their aptitude for scientific research in crime. They are to be chosen from among the most intelligent men in the department to take up the study of ballistics, he said.

WHAT THE WILD WAVES ARE SAYING.

Tugs which usually work in the river without interfering with street traffic now require open bridges. The lake's up and so is the river. Lake shore walls, protections, and foundations are being injured or washed out by the action of the waves at new levels. The destruction has run into considerable money and more damage may be done. Detroit has a flooded area, said to include some thirty blocks. The Ontario shore is awash in places. The Toledo section has flood troubles and exposed places all along the shores of the great lakes are suffering from too much water. Lieut. Col. W. C. Weeks, the United States district engineer at Chicago, says that the levees have not reached their top. The probability of another foot must be considered.

The natural causes governing the rise and ebb of the levels have worked this bit of irony at a time when the lake ports, both in Canada and the United States, are fighting hard to reduce the Chicago diversion to the injury of the city's health and commerce on the unimproved assumption that the withdrawal of water from Lake Michigan into the sanitary district canal and the Illinois waterway has damaged their maritime interest.

The destructive and threatening rise in the levels reveals a number of things. One is that the Chicago sanitary district lost a case it should have won before the Supreme court. The facts which would have been irrefutable were obtained, but were not presented with their inherent cogency. The district had a win and bungled it into a defeat.

The plaintiff states are disclosed as nearing the edge of perjury in their description of conditions, statement of alleged facts, and definition of causes. Their case was the case of shapers well handled for deception and chicanery. It is now washed out by forces of nature not subject to the influence of such legal pleading.

Because the case was presented with such ineptitude on one side and such unscrupulousness on the other the Supreme court was led into the acceptance as facts of things which were not facts. The rebuttal has come with the rising levels.

A FEDERAL APPROPRIATION FOR A NATIONAL WATERWAY.

The exhaustion of the $25,000,000 borrowed by Illinois for the construction of the Illinois waterway, with the waterway still to be completed, has left the state administration in an awkward position. The present governor had nothing to do with the expenditure of the money, but he is none the less anxious to find a way out of the difficulty. The constitution of the state appears to forbid the use of ordinary revenues for canal building. The right to issue bonds for the waterway was limited to $25,000,000. To increase the bond limit, it is stated, would require a constitutional amendment and only one amendment may be submitted at a time by the legislature. The governor believes that the welfare of the state requires immediate constitutional amendment along other lines. The effect of all these restrictions is to place the completion of the waterway outside the power of the state for the present.

The amount of money still needed is not great. It has been estimated at from $3,000,000 to $5,000,000. It is a small sum when compared with the whole cost of the waterway. The drainage canal alone, the most difficult engineering feat, cost ten or fifteen times as much and the state has spent another $20,000,000 on its section. The federal government has appropriated only a few hundreds of thousands of dollars for the improvement of the lower river. The contribution of the federal government to the Illinois waterway is negligible in absolute amount, negligible in comparison with the amount spent by the state and by Chicago on a project of national importance, and negligible particularly in view of federal appropriations on other sections of the Mississippi waterway.

Business leaders and congressmen of Illinois and of the entire valley will be negligent if they do not insist that the federal government, at the first opportunity, appropriate the few millions needed to complete the work. The amount asked is but a tiny fraction of the sum already spent, exclusively from the federal treasury, in the canalization of the Ohio river to Pittsburgh and of the rivers above Pittsburgh. Mr. Hoover has said repeatedly that the Mississippi waterway cannot function economically until it is improved throughout all its important branches and none of the branches is so important as that which connects the great lakes at Chicago with the main river.

JUSTICE IN KANE COUNTY.

An extraordinary situation has arisen in connection with the prosecution of those who may be guilty of causing the death of Mrs. De King in Aurora.

The raid on the De King home was an incident in the campaign of prohibition enforcement in Kane county. That campaign, if it was not directed in detail was at least encouraged by the state's attorney of Kane county, George D. Carbery. Indeed, shortly after the killing Mr. Carbery stated that in his opinion Deputy Sheriff Smith was justified in shooting Mrs. De King.

It is now known that the warrant which Smith carried to the De King home was based upon the false affidavit of an under-cover agent and there is doubt whether the warrant was served when the De King house was entered. These circumstances raise grave questions of the responsibility of Smith for the woman's death. As Carbery has committed himself to the theory that Smith is innocent, Carbery's fitness for the task of prosecution is, to say the least, questionable. He may be called upon to ask a jury to send a man to the penitentiary whom he has already stated to be innocent of any wrongdoing.

The false affidavit raises a similar point. The paper was signed by Eugene Fairchild, who received his appointment as investigator, it has been stated, from Walter Miller, who, in turn, is chief investigator for Mr. Carbery. If Mr. Carbery prosecutes he may be called upon to demand punishment for his own appointees, for whose acts he bears a moral responsibility beyond all question and perhaps a legal responsibility as well.

It must be said for Mr. Carbery that he realized his position was ambiguous. At one point he volunteered to withdraw from the prosecution in favor of the attorney general of the state, Mr. Oscar Carlstrom. But Mr. Carlstrom found reasons for refusing to act. He did not feel that Mr. Carbery was disqualified by personal bias, and further he could not find in the record any indication that a judge had disqualified Mr. Carbery.

Mr. Carlstrom's letter seemed to place responsibility upon Judge Newhall of Kane county. He met it in chambers at a conference attended by Mr. Carbery and the lawyers for the De Kings. It was agreed that the De King counsel should be appointed special assistant prosecutors with the right to summon witnesses before the grand jury, but without the right to appear before the grand jury, a right reserved to Mr. Carbery. If any indictments are voted, the De King counsel are to join Mr. Carbery in the prosecution. How that arrangement was reached and upon what grounds have not been revealed. It leaves Mr. Carbery, whose offer to withdraw may be interpreted as an admission of prejudice, in command of the prosecution, and it leaves room for suspecting that if indictments are voted the lawyers for the state will be of two minds regarding the defendants' guilt and the methods of proceeding against them.

Together, Mr. Carlstrom and Judge Newhall, with the cooperation of Mr. Carbery, have brought about a situation which must be viewed with satisfaction by those who favor the methods of law enforcement which led to the De King killing.

And Mr. Carbery appears safe from indictment for the present.

FOR THE WEST SIDE BOULEVARD.

Enabling legislation for the west side elevated superhighway will soon be reported out of committee in Springfield. The bill authorizes a referendum in the west park district on the project of a boulevard from the Chicago river to the west city limits and on a $20,000,000 bond issue to pay for it. If the bill becomes an act, the state will not have imposed a tax upon a local government, but will have given the people of that subdivision the right to undertake and finance an improvement if it receives majority approval at the polls. The first problem in rehabilitating the west side of Chicago is to make it accessible. The first problem in providing accessibility is to create an adequate thoroughfare. This the north and south sides have, and in the lack of it the west side suffers its most serious inferiority. After experimenting with attempts to get more efficient use of the existing traffic facilities to the west, authorities have virtually confessed failure—whatever relief has been secured has been only moderate and temporary. The west park board is committed to the only proper solution, which is included in the bill before the assembly. It provides for a wide avenue over a direct route with modern facilities for separating traffic. Anything less ambitious would be imprudent, for the intersections at every block on the west side require double decked streets for the convenience of through traffic. This has not been so essential in the case of the lake front boulevards.

The obligation of the state to permit a referendum on the west side highway is increased by the fact that the west park board is a ward of the state. Although the governor appoints the trustees, the state does not propose to defund the district with its improvements; the least it can do is not to obstruct the residents of the district from amending themselves for their own benefit.

Editorial of the Day

MISSING THE POINT.
(Baltimore Sun.)

The young gentlemen at the University of Virginia who have defied the authority of the national governing body of their fraternity as well as that of the university faculty in the matter of storing and drinking liquor in their clubhouse have missed their logic. If for any reason they do not like regulations prescribed by their fraternity officials and do not propose to obey them, they present an issue which can be dealt with under the established rules of their organization. In the event of a head-on collision, there is, presumably, authority to determine who must give way. That is a fraternity question. The defiance of the university authorities in the premises is another matter.

College and university students when they enter such institutions agree to abide by the regulations. They may not like the schedule, but they must accept them or go elsewhere. They may wish to use an automobile, but many colleges put restrictions upon the right to do so. There are other liberties and privileges which students surrender for the sake of higher education, and the extent to which the right to do as one pleases is stopped by custom, student or class edict is notorious.

Moreover, the most dubious of gentlemen recognize that some situation must be given the time and place. In the circumstances, the arguments brought in bear by the students as to the impossibility of enforcing the proposed rules, their general hostility to the Volstead law and their objections to "snooty" would be ruled out by any competent court as irrelevant, immaterial and misleading.

MINOR INJURY TREATMENTS

THE general spread of information about infections, on the one hand, and first aid, on the other, has been so good, that the public has been led to believe that minor injuries are of no consequence. This is a mistake. Minor injuries, if not properly treated, may become serious. The first aid to be given to a minor injury is to stop the bleeding. This can be done by applying a clean cloth or bandage to the wound. If the bleeding does not stop, the wound should be treated with a disinfectant. The disinfectant should be applied to the wound and the surrounding area. The wound should then be covered with a clean cloth or bandage. If the wound is deep, it should be treated with a disinfectant and then covered with a clean cloth or bandage. If the wound is on the face, it should be treated with a disinfectant and then covered with a clean cloth or bandage. If the wound is on the hand, it should be treated with a disinfectant and then covered with a clean cloth or bandage. If the wound is on the foot, it should be treated with a disinfectant and then covered with a clean cloth or bandage. If the wound is on the leg, it should be treated with a disinfectant and then covered with a clean cloth or bandage. If the wound is on the arm, it should be treated with a disinfectant and then covered with a clean cloth or bandage. If the wound is on the back, it should be treated with a disinfectant and then covered with a clean cloth or bandage. If the wound is on the chest, it should be treated with a disinfectant and then covered with a clean cloth or bandage. If the wound is on the stomach, it should be treated with a disinfectant and then covered with a clean cloth or bandage. If the wound is on the neck, it should be treated with a disinfectant and then covered with a clean cloth or bandage. If the wound is on the head, it should be treated with a disinfectant and then covered with a clean cloth or bandage. If the wound is on the face, it should be treated with a disinfectant and then covered with a clean cloth or bandage. If the wound is on the hand, it should be treated with a disinfectant and then covered with a clean cloth or bandage. If the wound is on the foot, it should be treated with a disinfectant and then covered with a clean cloth or bandage. If the wound is on the leg, it should be treated with a disinfectant and then covered with a clean cloth or bandage. If the wound is on the arm, it should be treated with a disinfectant and then covered with a clean cloth or bandage. If the wound is on the back, it should be treated with a disinfectant and then covered with a clean cloth or bandage. If the wound is on the chest, it should be treated with a disinfectant and then covered with a clean cloth or bandage. If the wound is on the stomach, it should be treated with a disinfectant and then covered with a clean cloth or bandage. If the wound is on the neck, it should be treated with a disinfectant and then covered with a clean cloth or bandage. If the wound is on the head, it should be treated with a disinfectant and then covered with a clean cloth or bandage.

The advantage of a continuous hot boracic dressing especially in infected wounds cannot be questioned, yet the ordinary wounds will do better without wet dressings than with them.

The question of the use of judgment and common sense in the treatment of minor injuries is of great importance. The patient should be told to stop the bleeding, to clean the wound, and to cover it with a clean cloth or bandage. The patient should be told to keep the wound dry and to avoid infection. The patient should be told to seek medical attention if the wound does not improve or if it becomes more serious.

JEW RULES SELF IN SOVIET TOWNS; FOOD IS SCARCE

Colonies Set Up by Czar Face Hardships.

[This is another of a series of articles on conditions in central Russia and the Ukraine.]

BY MARK RASUMNY.

SEIDEMENUCH, Kheron District, April 14.—Seidemenuch is a village of 30 families. Rows of unpainted wooden cottages stretch along both sides of a muddy road. Behind each house stretches a row of unkempt sheds and stalls. In only two respects it differs from thousands of other Ukrainian villages: its population is predominantly Jewish and instead of the usual Orthodox church there is an Orthodox synagogue.

Seidemenuch is now known as Kalinindorf, after the peasant president of Russia. There is a cooperative, which seldom has anything for sale, a school, a medical aid station, and a policeman. There are a few Christian families, who have been completely assimilated by the Jews. They speak Yiddish, and their children attend the Jewish school.

It is noteworthy that in this Jewish district the non-Jews are listed as a national minority and that the Ukrainian and German villages in this district are administered by the Jewish Isopolkom (executive committee). Sometimes amusing situations arise. Generally speaking there are few conflicts and the different races get along well together.

Yiddish Official Tongue.

Two years ago Seidemenuch and other Jewish villages in this district were included into a "rai-isopolkom" (regional executive committee), which consisted of a number of Jewish committees who manage the affairs of these settlements. Yiddish has become the official language and there is a local court which holds its sessions in that tongue. Of the 42 villages, 34 are entirely Jewish in population and the remainder consists of Ukrainians and a few Germans. The total population is 15,500, 80 per cent Jews.

Some of these villages are more than 100 years old. Under the reign of Czar Alexander I, in 1803 a number of Jews from the Vitebsk, Poltava and Kharland provinces were given land in the Kheron province. The Russian government granted them subsidies and other assistance and promised to Jews becoming colonists that they would be exempted from some of the oppressive laws of those days. Then the wide Kheron steppes were thinly populated and the government was anxious to establish villages in this province.

The colonists had a hard time. They had been removed from the soil for generations and their neighbors distrusted them and sometimes committed anti-Semitic excesses. There were no philanthropic organizations of Jews abroad to send them aid and frequent crop failures sometimes resulted in famines. In 1881 there were pogroms, in which some of the colonists lost their lives. On top of all this came bolshevism and the famine years of 1921-22.

Irrigation Work Needed.

The Ukrainian steppes are fertile, but the climate is capricious. In the Kheron province the rivers flow beneath high banks and the land is dry. There are frequent droughts and the primitive plows of the farmers only scratch the surface of the land and so the grain does not take deep root and a short dry spell burns up the crops. An irrigation project is needed.

During the winter strong winds blow away the snow from the fields, and the winter grain, which needs this protecting mantle, suffers, especially in years when there is a light snow-fall. That happened again this year and as I rode through the fields in a "tatchka" (Ukrainian four wheeled cab with seats for four persons) we saw little snow and many fields were covered under a sheet of ice.

The villages I visited were in despair. With the winter crop destroyed and a lack of seed for spring sowing there is no hope for a good crop this year. For the last two years the colonists have had successive crop failures. If they were not receiving aid from the government and from the Jewish Colonial Relief society, whose headquarters are in Paris, they would be probably dying of hunger.

Colonists Ate Cats and Dogs.

The colonists are afraid of famine, for they passed through the awful years of 1921-22, when they were obliged to kill all their live stock and even cats and dogs for food. In pre-revolution times they had amassed some wealth, but this they traded for grain with other villages which had hidden stores. The famine also compelled them to sell the largest part of their implements, clothing, and furniture and the survivors had only their land and their homes.

Then came better times. The American relief administration, the American Joint Distribution Committee, and the world Jewish aid committee all sent them help. In 1926 there was another crop failure and the next harvest was almost as bad. The Soviet government appropriated a large sum to feed the Ukrainian peasants and provide them with seed grain.

The Jewish colonists also were aided. The government had already given $25,000 to help balance their budget and an additional $20,000 was given to organize communal work for the poorest families. Another $25,000 was granted and 35 kitchens were established, where children of the colonists are fed three meals a day.

Fuel Scarce than Food.

The Jewish Colonial Relief headquarters in Kheron has advanced some colonists money with which to buy fodder for livestock and has also this winter delivered 55,000 peods (a peod equals 36 pounds and there are 80 peods in a ton) of feed which they are selling at comparatively cheap prices. For fuel 41 cents for a peod of hay and 45 cents for a peod of clover or alfalfa.

Fuel is a more difficult problem for there are no forests on the steppes and the peasants heat their homes with kural, thin reeds which grow along the banks of streams. I spent two days in a home here and had to sleep in one room with the entire family, a man and wife, mother-in-law and four children. My host told me: "It will be our fate to die here, but we are praying that our children will be able to get away."

No Flour Seen for Years.

It is the ambition of all the colonists to leave or if they cannot, then to send their children to the towns. Many people have already left, for to them agriculture only means suffering. The faces of the people were thin and emaciated. Their eyes were deep sunken and hungry. They continually asked me to send them food packages from abroad.

"It will not mean much to your pocketbook," they pleaded. "Think of us who have not seen wheat flour and rice for years."

Wednesday is market day for these villages and I visited the market and found it practically empty. In reply to my questions I was informed that everybody was afraid to trade for if a peasant brought ten eggs or a sack of potatoes to sell, the village council immediately denounced him as a Kulak (a rich peasant), and from then on he was persecuted.

Girls Taught New Way to Toast Sandwichs

Appetizing Hint for Hostesses

Note: This letter comes from Marie J. Doherty, B.Sc., who lectures and writes for the magazines on Home Economics.

TO THE EDITOR—Recently I had occasion to demonstrate to a class of my girls at the beautiful new Providence High School the delicious, balanced meal contained in a toasted sandwich properly made. To my surprise I found that the Sunbeam Toaster is practically the only one on which a really filled sandwich can be toasted. If the slices were to stand upright as in ordinary toasters, the filling would not stay in. In the Sunbeam, however, the bread lies level—held in a turn-over rack directly over the rising heat—where the heat is intense. Thus, the bread toasts about 50 per cent quicker, and fast toasting leaves the inside tender while the surface is crisp and golden brown.

The Sunbeam rack holds the layers so securely, that even when turning them over the filling is not disturbed. This toaster makes the most delicious sandwiches I have ever prepared, and lets a hostess serve them hot off the toaster.

Of course, the Sunbeam will toast plain bread, crackers, scones, etc., as well as sandwiches. And it is the only electric toaster I know that opens wide enough for halved rolls. Toasted Sandwichs, however, are more and more becoming a popular part of our diet because such various combinations of fillings can be made to furnish necessary nutriment for an adequate meal. For example:

Remove skin and bones from one small can of salmon and mix with a small paste with 2 tablespoons of butter.
Add half cup of celery finely chopped.
Season with Worcestershire sauce and cayenne pepper.
Spread mixture between thin slices of bread and toast on the Sunbeam.

Your readers will also be interested in the Sunbeam's hinged tray that collects all crumbs. There are no refuse-catching recesses. One needs only snap the tray open and the crumbs are whisked out. I have never seen so sanitary a toaster, or one so easy to clean.

If your readers are interested, I am sure their dealers or Public Service Company can show them the Sunbeam.

Yours very truly,
MARIE J. DOHERTY.

HARLAN ASSERTS CAR BILLS DON'T MEAN HOME RULE

Replies to Three Bankers on Transit Securities.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Attorney John Maynard Harlan yesterday warned of another danger to the public interest in the Chicago transportation program pending in the general assembly. He indicated how, in his opinion, Chicago could be cheated out of home rule if the bills are passed as now phrased.

"The bills provide that the city shall have control of transportation only when there shall become operative and effective 'a comprehensive unified local transportation system.'"

"The bills permit a 'unified system' which may not be 'comprehensive,' according to Mr. Harlan. He pointed out that one bill defines a 'comprehensive unified local transportation system' as one 'comprising all of the street railways and also all of the local railroads (that is, the elevated roads)."

"If the unified system does not include all the street railways and all the local railroads in Chicago," said Mr. Harlan, "the local transit commission could not be created."

Says Line Might Be Omitted.
"All they would have to do would be to omit from their organic merger the little Southern Street Railway line. Then their unified system would not be 'comprehensive' and home rule—Mr. Insull's bugbear—would be indefinitely sidetracked. At the same time, to avoid irritation and loss to the carrier, they would merely enter into an agreement with the Southern Street Railway for exchange of transfers."

"I assume it is not intended by any of the proponents of the enabling legislation to trick the people. However, Mr. Insull, Mr. Blair, and Mr. Busby may pass from the scene before the transit problem is settled and their successors may not feel themselves obligated to respect the representations made by them and their common understanding with the public. On the contrary, such successors would likely feel perfectly free to do whatever they regarded as advantageous to the merger company, if within the letter of the law."

Tells of His Amendments.
Speaking of his amendments to correct this alleged defect, Mr. Harlan said: "Those simple amendments will make absolutely certain that the Insull-Blair-Busby interests cannot frustrate home rule and at the same time get substantially all they wish in the interests of themselves and their associates."

On another alleged demerit in the bills, which Mr. Harlan pointed out more than a week ago, he had more to say. In this connection he made a reply to a recent statement of Solomon Smith, president of the Northern Trust company; George Woodruff, vice chairman of the National Bank of the Republic; and Barrett Wendell of Lee, Higginson & Co.

In his criticism of the bills before the house committee, Mr. Harlan said that the elevated and surface lines could consolidate, obtain a certificate of convenience and necessity from the Illinois commerce commission, operate without a franchise from the city and issue and sell millions in securities.

Harlan Replies to Bankers.
The three bankers have said that it was their firm belief that under those committee and its most recent banker champions are right, should they not apply in favor of Chicago the simple rule of safety first? Why should they not promptly approve the amendments suggested by me? These amendments would prohibit the issuance of securities of the merger company until a terminable permit covering a 'comprehensive unified local transportation system' became operative.

For Getting Permit First.
"They should also accept other amendments I have suggested which provide that the powers conferred upon the new type of corporation should not ensure to such corporation until there shall have become in full force and effect a terminable permit to such corporation covering 'a comprehensive unified local transportation system.'"

"The amendments I have proposed, to make the bills safe for Chicago, will not delay one minute the incorporation of the merger company."

ALDERMEN FINISH ORGANIZATION OF COUNCIL GROUPS

Administration Given 45 of 76 Committee Jobs.

BY STANLEY ARMSTRONG.
Brookline Springs, Mo., April 14.—(Special.)—Organization of the new city council was completed tonight today when the committee on administration named aldermen to fill 45 of the sixty-seven vacancies on the city council's fifteen committees. The state was made up in a series of meetings held here last week, in which attacks on the positions held by Ald. Guy Quinlan (14th) created considerable commotion.

Speed Last Minute Trading.
Changes in this setup may be made before the report is submitted to the city council Thursday night, according to Ald. Joseph B. McDonough (11th), chairman of the organization group. Last minute trading is expected to take place while the five members of the committee are in Springfield in the interest of the transit bill pending in the legislature.

As the organization how stands the administration's candidates lead in the number of vacancies parceled out. Out of the 76 places filled, which include 57 vacancies and also changes in personnel or committees, 45 are credited to aldermen favorable to the administration, 29 to Democrats, and 3 to independents. An attack on the report is expected at Thursday's council session, but there is little likelihood of a majority report being submitted. It was said.

SLUSSER DENIES BLOCKING SENATE SANITARY INQUIRY
A denial that he is trying to block the state senate's inquiry into excessive expenditures of Sanitary district trustees was made yesterday by Assistant Prosecutor Thomas D. Slusser, in charge of presenting the case before the grand jury.

Senator Harry W. Starr, chairman of the senate committee, in a statement charged that Mr. Slusser, through lack of a desire to cooperate, had refused to let him see the transcript of statements made by various witnesses, adding "there seems to be a well considered effort to block our committee."

"Nothing could be further from my mind than trying to block Senator Starr's committee," said Slusser yesterday. "Statements which we have taken must be kept confidential for the present. Should anybody ever be brought to trial we don't want the whole world to know all about our evidence in advance."

Three employees of the district will be examined by the grand jury today on the alleged exorbitant costs of printing the annual report of Timothy J. Crowe, former president of the district. Two of these witnesses are Miss Alice McCabe, secretary to the missing Timothy Connolly, former purchasing agent, and Charles Mack, foreman of a printing concern.

UNDERGROUND FREIGHT TRANSPORTATION

300 LOADS of MUD Through the Loop Every Day and all you see is a Hole

Story of the Freight Tunnels

The chief business of the Freight Tunnels is hauling package freight, but coal, cinders and mud have always been an important part of their business. They deliver coal to 56 large buildings in the Loop and they dispose of 2,000 tons of cinders daily. The haul of mud varies with the seasons and with building activity. It averages about 50,000 tunnel car loads a year. Easy loading and mechanical handling make for low costs. That is important. But taking a vast amount of slow cumbersome and disagreeable traffic from already crowded streets has a value that may not be adequately expressed in terms of dollars; comfort, convenience and safety can not be so measured.

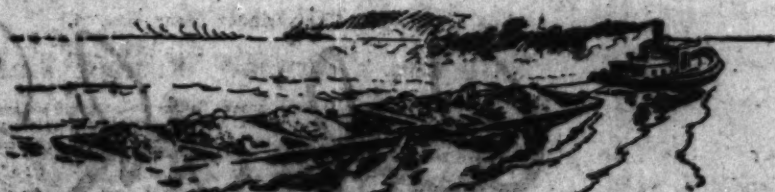

CLAY dug from the site of the new Board of Trade Building is hauled away through the Freight Tunnels—1,000 cubic yards per day—15,000 loads in all—the equivalent of 30,000 motor truck movements in 50 days—600 a day—in the already congested streets of the Loop.

The new Board of Trade Building will go 45 stories up and four basements down. It will rest on concrete piles—8 to 12 feet in diameter—for which 123 wells go to bed rock 125 feet below.

So there is mud and plenty of it. It comes up from the depths in buckets and slides down to the tunnel cars through chutes—goes underground to the Tunnel Disposal Station on the river, thence into barges which are towed—under the bridges—far out in the lake where it drops to the depths again.

No mud dripping on the pavements—no noise—no additional street traffic—it will suggest to you, perhaps, that some time Chicago is going to dig a subway—much of it under the streets of the Loop—and thereby produce thousands of tons of mud for disposal.

The daily movement of freight through the Tunnels averages 3,000 cars—moved cheaply, quickly, without street confusion as only the Tunnels can.

75,000 AFGHANS MASS TO DUST WATER BOY KING

Persian Attache Tells of Terror in Kabul.

BY H. BASIL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
TEHERAN, Persia, April 14.—Persian atrocities at the hands of the numerous wild tribesmen who are daily joining Amanullah Khan's drive to recapture Kabul, capital of Afghanistan and regain the throne, from which he abdicated, the Persian military attaché at the latter place has dispatched his family to this city. They traveled by rail and automobile via British Baluchistan, arriving here yesterday.

The Persian officer who accompanied his family gives a graphic account of the first week he was at Kabul, after Bacha Sakao, the so-called water boy king, was enthroned.

Dead Life in Streets.
He said the dead laid in the streets for days, no one daring to leave their homes to bury them. The officer declared that Bacha Sakao put in circulation new currency, on which his name is printed as "Amir Habibullah, Slave and Supporter of the Faith of the Gods and Prophet."

Churchmen and business men, former supporters of Bacha Sakao, are now deserting him and in retaliation he has imposed heavy taxes.

The Soviet also is busy at Kabul. The British, however, maintain strict neutrality, but are holding strong forces in readiness at Peshawar to meet possible emergencies.

Chien Amannullah Has 75,000 Men.

The Persian officer estimates that Amanullah has an irregular army of 75,000, including some regular troops. They are stationed in the various large cities in the country. Reports from the Persian-Afghan frontier, say the situation is quiet there. Amanullah has advanced his army, aided by good weather, over the greater portion of the distance to Kabul.

Soviet Protests to Persia.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
RIGA, Latvia, April 14.—The Latvian reports that acting commissar of foreign affairs, Litvinoff, has dispatched a sharply worded note to the Persian government demanding that Teheran immediately liquidate the concentration of troops on the Afghan frontier.

According to the Latvian, the Persians are planning to take advantage of the civil war in Afghanistan to annex the northwest province. Mohammedan clergy and army officers are said to be supporting the project. The Soviet, according to the Latvian, will not permit the Afghans' neighbors to take advantage of the present interior disorders.

30 NATIONS MEET TODAY TO TALK OVER DISARMING

The Leaders See Little Hope in Parley.

BY HENRY WALES.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
GENEVA, April 14.—The league of nations preparatory commission on disarmament convenes again tomorrow with 30 nations represented, including three nonmembers, the United States, Russia, and Turkey. Little hope is held out by the leaders that the forthcoming parley will produce any more results than the earlier sessions during the last five years.

Ambassador Hugh Gibson, who has just returned to Europe after a conference with President Hoover and Secretary of State Stimson, tonight declined to discuss his instructions, on the ground that the attitude of the United States depends entirely on what emerges from the forthcoming conference.

He indicated, however, that an examination of the naval powers of disarmament would proceed under the league commission exactly as though the Coolidge three power parley of 1927 had never been held. America is anxious to participate in effecting a limitation of armaments in the categories of war craft covered by the Washington treaties.

Will Discuss Russian Plan.

The league commission is pledged to discuss Russia's proposal for an immediate 50 per cent reduction in armaments and successive cuts afterwards, but it is realized that there is little hope of putting over the Soviet scheme. The Soviet secretary for foreign affairs, Maxim Litvinoff, declined today to make any statement at this time.

The Chinese delegate, Gen. Yangping, today deposited a proposal for abolishing compulsory military service everywhere, on the ground that it militates against the expressed principles of the league and the Kellogg peace pact.

The Turkish delegation is preparing a plan, but Foreign Minister Tefik Ruzhdi Bey refused to make public any of its details.

If no progress is made and the naval problem is again deadlocked, the German delegate, Count von Bernstorff, is expected to reiterate the proposal he made in a speech in the assembly last September which may provide a solution to the impasse. Count von Bernstorff's proposal was that a subcommittee be appointed by the league commission to handle any phases of the problem on which the full commission has failed to act.

Would Bring "Big 5" Together.

It is said that the German government believes that a subcommittee composed of the five chief naval powers—Great Britain, the United States, Japan, France, and Italy, might overcome some obstacles hitherto encountered and maintain the prestige of the league by keeping all the component parts of the disarmament question within the agis of Geneva. It is pointed out that France declined to participate in the three power parley which the United States called on the ground that the league of nations already had machinery for handling the question.

ITALY'S NEWEST SUBMARINE WILL CARRY A PLANE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TARANTO, Italy, April 14.—Italy's largest and best equipped submarine, the Franco Test, was launched at the dockyards here today. The submarine has two 2,000 horsepower Diesel engines of special design which can be used separately or together, and which give a surface speed of 18 miles an hour. Two electric motors of 1,000 horsepower each propel the submarine at a speed of ten miles an hour under water.

The submarine's artillery is one anti-aircraft gun and several machine guns. The submarine is to carry a seaplane in a large tube adjoining the turret, a big innovation in submarine technique. The tube is able to resist over 200 foot depth water pressure.

Jealous Woman Sings Viper in Bouquet to Rival; Jailed

[Copyright 1929: By the New York Times.]

GENEVA, April 14.—The strange case of the attempted murder of her rival by a divorced wife will be tried at Locarno this week. A Swiss commercial traveler's first wife, on learning that his second wife was expecting a baby, sent her anonymously by post a bouquet of chrysanthemums with a venomous viper hidden among the flowers. When the wife opened the package the snake fell out dead, having perished of the cold during transit. The shock resulted in the premature birth of the child. Police traced the buyer of the snake and flowers and arrested the former wife, who confessed.

Call the Physician Without Delay

It seems to be a common human failing to postpone calling the physician until it is thought that his services are absolutely necessary. The sad part of this truth is found in the fact that common sense is not usually found in that order of things. The average person is not able to judge when no illness is in the picture, and that fact alone should urge that the physician be called at once.

If you must see him, it is better to see him on the side of safety. It is far better to get your doctor's advice for an ailment which may be quickly corrected than to wait until the help may be too late.

Let us fill your prescriptions. Sargent's registered pharmacists will serve you—the largest stock of the kind in the United States.

LANDING FIELDS

to increase the value of Suburban Property

COOK COUNTY property has soared in value during the past fifteen years, and now comes another upward surge—

In 1914 the Forest Preserve program was approved by the people of the county, and shortly afterward the actual purchase of property began. More people traveling to the outlying districts.

More people wanting to own homes in surrounding areas. The amount of open land was cut down by over 30,000 acres—and the purchase gave a new impetus to the price and value of Cook county real estate.

New and improved highways brought city and country closer, made commuting easier, and again lifted the prices. Owners cashed in on their holdings and came out with good profits.

Golf clubs marched with the expansion. New ones sprang up along the roads—absorbing acreage. Old ones attracted new members. The clubs guaranteed recreation and pleasant surroundings to suburban dwellers. Golfers who could afford the change wanted to live closer to their golf, and wanted better living conditions for their families. Outlying towns grew rapidly. Property values rose.

And now—skyways! New opportunity for investors in real estate! Airplanes swing through the air in increasing numbers. They need landing places. Airports are being established—more are coming—a girdle of landing fields to care for air traffic will encircle Chicago.

And around them new suburbs, new business, new homes will spring up. More property will be built upon, and values will increase—as they have on every other occasion of accelerated suburban growth.

The progress of the air industry, great as it has been, is only beginning. Now is the time to buy real estate if you are to profit by its expansion!

And when you seek promising real estate investments watch the Tribune Want Ad section, daily and Sunday. People in the Chicago district who have real estate for sale use more advertising in the Tribune than in all the other Chicago newspapers combined. The greatest number—the widest selection of offers are in the Tribune. Five or ten minutes spent in reading the Want Ads every day may mean cash in your pocket from real estate investments! Watch for metropolitan Chicago's finest offers of suburban property in the

Mr. Wiley F. Coel, President of the Commonwealth Utilities Corp., has summarized his letter of April 9, 1929, as follows:

BUSINESS: The Commonwealth Utilities Corporation, through its subsidiaries now owned or controlled, serves 33 communities, having an estimated population in excess of 570,000. Electric light and power service is supplied to 34 communities each having an estimated population in excess of 100,000. Electric generating capacity for this group of properties aggregates approximately 35,000 h. p. An interurban railroad is operated between Marion, Delaware, and Columbus, Ohio. Electric service is furnished to 13 communities centering around Prescott, Arizona. Power is also supplied to mines and smelters in the Yavapai County, Arizona district and to the Central Electric and Light Co., a subsidiary of the Commonwealth Utilities Corp., in the Yuma territory in a capacity of 11,500 h. p. and a steam turbine electric plant of 12,000 h. p. capacity. Artificial gas is supplied to Prescott. Ice plants are operated at Mesa, Ariz.; Springfield, Mo.; Oklahoma City, Okla.; Albuquerque, N. M.; and San Diego, Calif. The company does an extensive railway switching business under favorable long term contracts.

EARNINGS: The consolidated earnings for the year ended December 31, 1928, of the Commonwealth Utilities Corporation and Subsidiaries, including earnings accruing to prior owners and adjusted to give effect to changes in capitalization and the acquisition of properties and securities acquired since the first of the year, are set forth in detail in separate letter, show gross revenue (including other income) of $4,547,716, net of taxes, interest, depreciation, amortization of discount and depletion of $1,009,903. The Corporation also realized other profits from the sale of securities aggregating $215,128. Including these earnings, the Preferred dividend requirements of $167,296 were earned 8.1 times before depreciation, amortization of discount and federal taxes, and 4.2 times after depreciation of $218,253 and estimated federal taxes of $89,950.

COMMON STOCK PURCHASE WARRANTS: Each share of the Preferred Stock, Series C, will carry a detachable Warrant entitling the holder thereof to purchase one share of Common Stock, Class B, on the following basis: On or before March 1, 1930, at $45 per share; on or before March 1, 1931, at $50 per share; on or before March 1, 1932, at $55 per share; on or before March 1, 1933 at $60 per share; and on or before March 1, 1934, at $65 per share.

PURPOSE OF ISSUE: The proceeds from the sale of this issue of Preferred Stock will be used in payment for a majority interest of the common and preferred stocks of the Arizona Power Company, which have been recently acquired, and for other corporate purposes.

EQUITY: The Common Stock, Class A and Class B, has an aggregate value estimated on the basis of current market quotations in excess of $6,300,000. The adjusted consolidated balance sheet as of December 31, 1928, reflected net assets in excess of $340 per share for each share of Preferred Stock outstanding.

This information and these statistics are not guaranteed but have been obtained from sources we believe to be accurate.

The Corporation has agreed to make application to list this issue of stock on the St. Louis Stock Exchange.

HERRICK'S BODY LYING IN STATE AT CLEVELAND

Home Folk Pay Tribute; Funeral Today.

Cleveland, O., April 14.—(U.P.)—The body of Myron T. Herrick lay in state tonight in the city of the late ambassador's youth and the place where he first gained political fame. Two stalwart troops, their hands clasped over their rifles, stood at either end of the flag-draped casket, guarding it until the funeral rites at the Trinity cathedral tomorrow morning and the burial in Lake View cemetery.

A salute of 19 guns was fired by Battery B, Ohio National Guard, as the special train bearing the body of the late envoy to France and the funeral party stopped in the New York Central station. The regular army guard of honor stood with heads bowed as the party left the train.

Great Bronze Casket.
The great bronze casket, resting in the club coach, was draped with the American flag. About it were floral wreaths and other tokens of honor, and the shining star of the French legion of honor, marking the greatest honor that France could pay the envoy. At either end of the casket stood the regular army guard of honor. Fourteen troops of "A" men and two naval reserve men bore the casket to a hearse. Eight army sergeants from the 14th and 15th infantry regiments formed an escort. At the hearse they turned over the guard to Ohio National Guardsmen.

Behind cordons of motorcycle policemen, mounted policemen and the dancing cavalry on either side, following at the cortège, went the way to Trinity cathedral. The huge crowd lining the entire route stood silent.

Then Lindbergh Steps Out.
Almost an hour and a half after the train arrived Col. Charles A. Lindbergh stepped out, escorted by eight police officials. He hurried to one of the Herrick family cars and was driven to the Herrick farm in Chagrin Falls.

A few minutes afterward, Mr. and Mrs. Farnley Herrick and their son, Farnley Jr., left the train and were taken to the cathedral. The huge crowd was placed in the chapel until afternoon, then moved to the main church to enable an unbroken stream of public mourners to pay their respects.

CORNER STONE OF NEW SOUTH SIDE HOSPITAL IS LAID

The Rt. Rev. Bernard J. Sheil, auxiliary bishop of Chicago, officiated yesterday at the laying of the corner stone of the new hospital of the Little Company of Mary, a nursing order of nuns, at 14th street and California avenue. Clergy from all parts of the archdiocese were in the crowd of 1,500 friends of the new hospital.

St. Michael's Boy Scout band furnished music and the choir of St. Gerald's church, headed by the Rev. John J. Gernaghy, sang. Mother Superior M. Stenness and her assistants, Mother M. Dorothea, headed a group of twenty sisters of the Little Company of Mary, who were followed by delegations of nuns from other orders in the procession. The first unit of the new hospital will be completed by fall.

LINDY RIDES ON HERRICK TRAIN; PLANE FOLLOWS

Curtis Field, N. Y., April 14.—(U.P.)—Flying Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's Falcon plane, led Herbert, Curtis pilot, left for Cleveland, O., today to deliver the plane to the Trans-Atlantic flyer.

Col. Lindbergh left his plane here, temporarily abandoning anti-air transportation, which has been made of travel for most of his life, to accompany the body of his friend, the late Ambassador Myron T. Herrick, from New York to Cleveland.

Herbert said he expected to reach Cleveland before midnight. He said Col. Lindbergh had asked that the plane be ready for him in Cleveland by tomorrow night.

Four Anti-Fascists Given Prison Sentences in Italy
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

MILAN, Italy, April 14.—Four Venetians, tried yesterday by a special military tribunal for inciting violence against the Fascist state, were given sentences to prison islands varying from two to seven years. It was announced today. The men were charged with having circulated anti-Fascist pamphlets. They claimed the literature did not advocate violence, but was merely political and argumentative.

COOK HELD ON WOMAN'S CHARGE.
Belle Vernon, 35 years old, 1028 Broadway avenue, a cook, was held by a special military tribunal for inciting violence against the Fascist state, were given sentences to prison islands varying from two to seven years. It was announced today. The men were charged with having circulated anti-Fascist pamphlets. They claimed the literature did not advocate violence, but was merely political and argumentative.

PLEASANT RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION
Shoulders droop under weight of years. Young yet beauty has fled. Cheeks are sallow and drawn. Unhappy pimples keep your system clogged and you keep the beauty of youth. Its energy, its irresistible charm. Then life is not a failure.

Clogged bowels and inactive liver cause poisons to seep through the system. Health suffers and with it beauty and energy. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets will save you from this dark hour. For 20 years they have been prescribed in place of calomel to men and women seeking health and freedom from constipation. They act easily and smoothly. No dangerous griping. Take nightly before retiring. Results will amaze you.

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.
The Chicago Symphony orchestra, conducted by Frederick Stock, was one of the features of radio last night. The Mars, Venus, and Jupiter sections of "The Planets" were played. This was one of the choicest orchestral programs that radio has had in many months. Though the work is highly modernistic and completely arranged, it came over with clarity.

The hard, cold effects in the Mars section and the beauty of the harp and modulation effects in Venus, were to me new musical experiences. The Jupiter section was a moderate expression of merriment. The concert closed with a colorful reading of Liszt's tone poem, "Les Preludes."

Another hour of orchestral music in the best classical vein was the theater concert from New York, through KXW, 1 to 2 p. m., during which Dvorak's "New World" symphony was played in complete. We are overly familiar with the large movements, but the third, or scherzo, movement, is judged from yesterday's performance worthy of notice for its spiritfulness and surprise.

This Schipka, tenor of the Chicago opera, appeared on the W-G-N 825 to 8:55 concert from New York. Mr. Schipka's voice broadcasts admirably. His program was widely diversified, though from one into thinking it is a contralto. But this is only one of the accomplishments that make this artist an ideal radio singer. To orchestral accompaniment Mr. Schipka played the movement of Liszt's E flat concerto, a performance which made one wish to be watching his fingers flying over the piano.

The request program played by Walter Gieseking, pianist, from New York through KXW, 8:59 to 9:00, was an interesting one. Mr. Gieseking seems to play with a radiant smile. Perhaps that's one reason why he is so exceptionally Bach-like in Bach. Perhaps that's why he does not play Beethoven in the psychological heavy-weight manner.

Pay Robber to Start Serving Term Tomorrow
Joseph Pisch, 1101 West 47th place, will be taken to Joliet tomorrow morning to start serving a sentence of one year to life for his part in the Michael Reese hospital pay roll robbery of two years ago. His brother, John, and John Gavin are already serving similar sentences for the robbery.

Pisch was arrested Saturday as a fugitive from justice, having forfeited his bond of $10,000 after the state Supreme court sustained his conviction two months ago.

WOMANHOOD TODAY NOT CATHOLIC IDEAL, CARDINAL HAYES SAYS

New York, April 14.—[Special.]—The world of today has set up a new standard for womanhood and girlhood which does not measure up to the standards of purity and chastity required of women by the Roman Catholic church, Cardinal Hayes told a group of young women today at the annual breakfast of the New York Archdiocesan Union of the Sodality of the Blessed Virgin Mary in the Hotel Pennsylvania.

Cardinal Hayes was presented by Miss Mary Alice Deegan, supreme president of the union, who was the toastmaster.

"I feel I owe you an apology for the fact that I have not been to any of your annual breakfasts before," said the cardinal. "This morning at host mass, as I stood there at the altar, I pleaded with my Lord himself and with Mary, too, that you, my children, might be blessed.

"It was a most inspiring sight to see you all at your corporate communion. Mary is the supreme mother, the mother of all the ages. She is your mother and she loves each of you just as if you were her own child. "It is a wonderful thing that in this day you should choose Mary as your model. It is not fashionable today for women to do so. The world has set up its standards for womanhood and for girlhood today and they do not measure up to the Catholic high standard of purity and chastity as laid down by our mother, the church. But amidst these dangerous times, it is a blessing that your hearts have turned toward Mary."

Hold Funeral of R.J. Dickey, 98, Veteran Railroad Man

Funeral services for Robert John Dickey, 98 years old, for many years in the train service of the Chicago and North Western railroad, who died Friday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Margaret Crain, in Summit, Ill., were held yesterday. The body was taken last night to Belle Plaine, Ia., for burial. Mr. Dickey was born in England in 1821 and came to this country as a boy, settling with his parents in Belle Plaine. Six of his twelve children are living. Besides Mrs. Crain are David D. Dickey and Mrs. Michael Coleman of Summit, and R. L. Dickey, Mrs. Ronald Clemmer, and Mrs. Charles Field of Belle Plaine.

C. H. ALDRICH DIES AT 78; FUNERAL SERVICES TODAY

Funeral services for Charles H. Aldrich, nationally known lawyer, solicitor general of the United States in the Harrison and Cleveland administrations, will be held at 5 o'clock this afternoon in the undertaking rooms at 1253 North Clark street. Mr. Aldrich, who was 78 years old, died in his apartment at the Webster hotel, after a short illness. Interment will be tomorrow near Orland, Ind., where he was born in 1840.

Mr. Aldrich for many years was known as an able lawyer and engaged in some of the most important corporation litigation in the country during the last thirty or forty years. His ability along these lines led in 1892 to his appointment as solicitor general, and his retention during 1892 in the Cleveland administration. He succeeded William Howard Taft to that position when the latter was appointed to the bench of the United States Court of Appeals.

Mr. Aldrich was a past president of the Chicago Law club. He had served as trustee of the Chicago Law institute, and as vice president of the United League club. He was a member of the Chicago, Illinois and American bar associations.

FINAL HEARING IN PHONE RATE SUIT TO BE HELD TODAY

Judge James H. Wilkinson of the United States District court, will hear final evidence this morning on the suit of the Illinois Bell Telephone company to restrain the Illinois commerce commission from putting into effect the rate on coin box telephone service fixed by it.

The original bill was filed in 1923 by the telephone company on the ground that the rate would be confiscatory in violation of the 14th amendment to the constitution. Attorney George I. Halght, with Attorney Benjamin Goldstein, will represent the city's interests. The city intervened in 1923 on behalf of telephone subscribers and the case came up before Judge George F. J. Evans, Judge Evan A. Evans, and Judge Wilkinson, who granted a preliminary injunction restraining the commission from applying its rates.

"Should the case go against the telephone company now, the extra money collected above that of the rate of the commerce commission since 1923 would be refunded to telephone subscribers," Mr. Halght said yesterday. "This would amount to nine million dollars."

Milk Drinkers Find Never-Failing Enjoyment in Drinking "Selected"

Children seldom drink enough milk for their health requirements unless they enjoy drinking it. Right here is where "Selected" solves a real problem. Children love it. You can tell they do by the satisfied look as the glass is drained. Grown-ups say they never knew milk could taste so good. The secret of its appeal to young and old alike is in its

"Sweet Natural Taste"

Keeping the taste sweet and natural is just a matter of taking extraordinary care in the production and handling of "Selected." It costs more to produce milk under "Selected" standards, but there is a keen and ever-growing demand for this special drinking milk that costs three cents more but is definitely better in taste and quality.

Make a trial of this special drinking milk in your home. Phone Franklin 3110, or speak to the Borden Milkman serving your neighborhood.

DR. PHILPOTT QUILTS AS MOODY CHURCH PASTOR

Rev. Peter W. Philpott, D. D., for seven years pastor of the Moody Memorial church, Clark street and North avenue, yesterday surprised his congregation by presenting and reading to them his resignation as their minister. During Dr. Philpott's pastorate the church building costing a million dollars has been erected as a memorial to the famous founder, Dwight L. Moody.

"My resignation has not been occasioned by any opposition or friction in either the congregation or the executive committee," said Dr. Philpott. "It is the consensus that the Moody church was never more prosperous and harmonious than at the present time. I rejoice that it is under such conditions that I relinquish the leadership. "In leaving you it is my thought to go evangelistic and Bible conference work. I shall present this resignation to the executive committee tomorrow evening and request that a church meeting be called as early as possible to take action upon it."

Dr. Philpott further expressed the desire that he terminate his official duties connected with the Moody Memorial church on Sunday, June 20.

Throw Aside Ethics in Order to Succeed? It's Not Necessary

By Sally Joy Brown

We have a way of saying, "O, you can't get along these days if you're honest or too unselfish. You'll be imposed upon—people will take advantage of you."

Approximately which, the other day in a discussion led by Dr. Kilpatrick, who is professor of the philosophy of education at Columbia university, some one asked him, "How shall we teach our children to be unethical enough to get on in this world?" His instantaneous reply was, "Don't!"

Have you ever thought about this when you're heard a child tell the unvarnished truth, exhibit the clearest candor, or show himself to be unconvincingly honest? Haven't you heard people say, "Well, he'll have to get over that before he grows up, or he'll never get on in the world?" Haven't you wondered and wondered yourself, sometimes?

But when you get right down to it, is it so necessary to be unethical to get on? Take one of the ethical attributes—honesty. How is one at such a disadvantage by being honest? Honesty is the foundation of business. It is a quality that is a part of every great man. We don't really as a dishonesty with the average man of men and women who have made their way in the world. Of course, dishonest people do "get on" and get rich—but being honest doesn't prevent reaching the same goal.

The name holds true of unselfishness. The selfish person is not the one who meets life most adequately, sometimes he gains tangibly by being selfish, but in his friendships, in the confidence that life has for him, he loses. Being unselfish does not prevent success in any sense of that word.

It occurs being ethical doesn't have to be in hand with being stupid or foolish. There's no reason why you can't be ethical, and have good sense, too. For instance, just because you're honest you don't have to be stupid. And just because you're unselfish you don't have to be stupid. To such lengths that you make a sacrifice of yourself—and incidentally make every one around you selfish. There is such a thing as a selfish virtue. The whole subject is big enough to write a book about.

But as for training your children to be unethical enough to get on in the world—don't. By The Chicago Tribune.

FARM AND GARDEN
By Frank Ridgway

Raising turkeys on a limited amount of ground is likely to be tried out for the first time this season by many farmers in the middle west who formerly lost so heavily from parasites as to consider their birds a waste of space and quit the business. A few have tried the limited range scheme and have been so successful that they are convinced that it will pay.

Under the new plan the turkey raising business, which has been done in Illinois for several years, is likely to be rebuilt successfully, experts predict. A demonstration held at the Kibler farm, this was shown last year that turkeys can be raised successfully and profitably by keeping only a few turkeys on a small plot of land. The Kibler flock made a profit of about $200. From one breeding pen of ten yearling hens and one tom were hatched 218; all the hatchlings were sold for $1.50 each.

On the Kibler farm the brooder house is located on ground considered to be free from blackhead, the dreaded turkey disease, and worms. According to Mr. Al. the young birds were set out in four small yards about 10 by 50 feet. The pullets were kept on each yard about ten days or two weeks, and then moved to the next yard to escape diseases and parasites. After they had gone the rounds in the four pens they were old enough to be moved to a rearing range of about one and one-half acres. This range was also divided into four sections, each being used about one month as a whole. Cheap roosting shelter was provided, and all the feed, both grain and mash, fed in hoppers. The feeds included a standard baby chick starter, a growing mash, and a grain mixture.

Most of these straight coats have no closing. But now and then one observes a snappy model which buttons down the front and suggests a double-breasted effect with self-tie. Vionnet sends us a dressy wrap with a side closing held in place by a narrow belt and Schiaparelli creates a trick closing by lacing a broad ribbon through huge eyelets.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—Apparently, any really "Strange Interlude" is entitled to a long run. Witness today's printed frock. Here it interludes, the plain panel which is strangely interpolated just in front, runs the full length of the frock. The panel, of course, matches the straight, three-quarter coat and adds distinctive interest to the frock. The latter sponsors an all over plaid skirt and a plain upper section.

Notice the clever tucking which decorates the cuffs and forms the standing collar and shoulder yoke of the coat. This is one of the smart tricks of finish advocated nowadays. One of the most distinguished new wraps uses a tucked full collar in one with a full length front border. On the other hand, an ensemble adaptation, known as Leleag, fashions the cape with a standing collar tucked vertically and permits one in the center of the back to open into a deep inverted plait.

Indeed, the variation in the treatment of coat collars is more striking than any other feature. For, despite the occasional flared model, straight line coats strongly predominate. One smart crepe wrap is finished simply by a full length binding of wide grosgrain ribbon. Another coat completing a crepe de chine ensemble advocates a tiny scalloped collar. Now and then one observes a small flat collar of kolinsky, but more often the idea is to eliminate any sort of collar. The latter vogue is especially compatible with the cape collar or jabot treatment of the accompanying blouse or frock and likewise, most of the scarfs bound, not to the coat, but to the blouse.

Indeed, the variation in the treatment of coat collars is more striking than any other feature. For, despite the occasional flared model, straight line coats strongly predominate. One smart crepe wrap is finished simply by a full length binding of wide grosgrain ribbon. Another coat completing a crepe de chine ensemble advocates a tiny scalloped collar. Now and then one observes a small flat collar of kolinsky, but more often the idea is to eliminate any sort of collar. The latter vogue is especially compatible with the cape collar or jabot treatment of the accompanying blouse or frock and likewise, most of the scarfs bound, not to the coat, but to the blouse.

Most of these straight coats have no closing. But now and then one observes a snappy model which buttons down the front and suggests a double-breasted effect with self-tie. Vionnet sends us a dressy wrap with a side closing held in place by a narrow belt and Schiaparelli creates a trick closing by lacing a broad ribbon through huge eyelets.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—Apparently, any really "Strange Interlude" is entitled to a long run. Witness today's printed frock. Here it interludes, the plain panel which is strangely interpolated just in front, runs the full length of the frock. The panel, of course, matches the straight, three-quarter coat and adds distinctive interest to the frock. The latter sponsors an all over plaid skirt and a plain upper section.

Notice the clever tucking which decorates the cuffs and forms the standing collar and shoulder yoke of the coat. This is one of the smart tricks of finish advocated nowadays. One of the most distinguished new wraps uses a tucked full collar in one with a full length front border. On the other hand, an ensemble adaptation, known as Leleag, fashions the cape with a standing collar tucked vertically and permits one in the center of the back to open into a deep inverted plait.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Easy Chocolate Confection.

Here is an easy way to get a pleasant sweet for the end of a meal, and I think it has not been exploited in this column for half a dozen years. Put a cake or part of a cake of sweet chocolate in the top of a double boiler, and when it has melted or liquified mix with it about as much brown sugar as it will take up. Some chopped nuts may be added or even chopped dates or raisins. But the chocolate merely melted can be spread on toasted bread or cake or used over ice cream.

Now this is a truly amateur confection, which no professional candy maker perhaps would countenance. I am describing this to emphasize that I am an amateur in candy making.

In fact, I got a panic when people hope through my column to learn how to make candy professionally. First and last, a great many women have applied to me for help to make candy to sell. I have even gone so far as to send a present of a thermometer to one—never have heard from her since and have forgotten her name—but I refuse to encourage anybody to rely on me to help to establish her as a candy maker.

I think I am a careful and highly observant cook, therefore I can cook sugar with some success, but this is not being a candy maker. Candy making is a profession and an art, all fine cooking is. It is a pity to go into any sort of candy making with no more than a shoestring of knowledge about it, yet persons of great determination, business ability, and constant study have succeeded even so.

The reason for all this talk is that I printed a caramel recipe and a young woman tried it and was successful, and wrote telling me that I promised to give many recipes, and she hoped I would keep my promise, because she was most anxious to learn candy making. Just before that a nurse had asked me to help her to leave her profession to go into the candy business.

Please, may I print a recipe for candy making once in a while without rousing hopes that perhaps cannot be realized?

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

The Tribune will pay $1 for every letter published on "The Embarrassing Moments of My Life." Address: Embarrassing Moments, Chicago Tribune. Write on one side of the paper. No manuscript returned.

Upsetting the Coffee.

We were the newlywed pastor and wife, and were invited to the home of one of the prominent members of the church for dinner. The hostess was a nervous, fussy woman, an immaculate housekeeper.

Her husband, on taking the spoon from his coffee, laid it upon the clean tablecloth. Regardless of our presence, she reprimanded him sharply. This so "fussed" me that I made a quick awkward move and, to my horror, upset the entire contents of my coffee cup over the cloth.

I felt sure that she was the more embarrassed, the hostess or myself. The poor husband, with a deep sigh, said, "Well I didn't do that!"

I still get red and hot when I live over the incident. L. C. S.

Bright Sayings of the Children

The Tribune will pay $5 for each child saying printed. The story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unsolicited contributions. Write on one side of the paper. Address: Bright Sayings to Aunt Sue, The Tribune, Chicago.

I hesitated greatly to take Bobby to the party, as he was only 3 and too young to be trusted. But Mildred, the little girl who was the hostess, wanted him. When I went to get him she said naively: "Well, Bobby was fine. I could mark him one hundred in manners."

When we were traveling, Timmie, aged 5, saw an ox pulling a cart. "Look, mother," he exclaimed, "cows are acting like horses!" P. C.

Why Fear GRAY HAIR?

WHY MUST MEN and women of 30 and more be haunted by the fear of gray when science offers Kolor-Bak? If you don't want gray hair, don't have it—color with Kolor-Bak, a clean, colorless liquid which grades, colors, to the right shade of blonde, auburn, brown or black! The one beauty is right for all shades! Nor does the hair lose lustre. Why experiment with anything but Kolor-Bak? Kolor-Bak always gets the same results—Kolor-Bak is sold on a money-back guarantee.
